Now Very Bright

JAPS AND RUSSIANS SAY SO

PROSPECT OF ENDING MEETING IN FEW DAYS AT PORTSMOUTH

St. Petersburg Dispatch Says Russian Loan Is Arranged in America
—Seven Articles Agreed Upon.

Portsmouth, Aug. 17.—With a sunny day, the envoys of Russia and Japan entered today into their deliberations which may determine finally the question of peace or war.

M. Koroscovitz, the Russian secretary, declared the business before the conference might be concluded in two days.

"Then there is some prospect of getting away by Monday or Tuesday," he was asked. "Splendid prospects," he replied. "There is no reason why we cannot bring our deliberations to a close by that time, unless there is an unexpected adjournment."

Koroscovitz explained that there were four great questions left for consideration, two of which, indemnity and the Saghalien Island disposition, might require longer discussion than the others.

For the first time Aimeru Sato, chief secretary of the Japanese envoys, today expressed a positive opinion as to the outcome of the peace negotiations. In an interview today he declared he believed that peace would result from the present conference.

(Bulletin.)

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—An official conference report of this morning's session says the plenipotentiaries discussed article 9. Not being able to reach a unanimous decision, the conference decided to record the divergence of views and proceeded to the discussion of the remaining articles. Article 9 is believed to relate to the war indemnity.

RUSSIAN LOAN IN AMERICA.
LONDON, Aug. 17.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from St. Petersburg today says a prominent banker there has confirmed the reports that a Russian loan has been concluded in America.

SECRETARY SATO

Of the Japanese Representatives Expresses Belief That Peace Will Result From Conference.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—In the course of an interview with your representative today Secretary Sato declared he believed that peace would result from the present conference.

"Are you satisfied with the progress that is being made?" he was asked.

"Yes, we are getting along fast."

"You were rather pessimistic the other day?"

"Yes, I was."

"What do you think now?"

"I think there will be peace."

"What makes you think so?"

"It is just my own personal opinion."

Asked as to the report that the plenipotentiaries, which have been drafted and signed covering the Japanese demands, that have been agreed to, were to be considered merely as "bases" upon which a subsequent treaty might be drawn up, Sato said the language of the protocols would be the language of the treaty, in other words that the protocols had been prepared with the idea of embodying them in any treaty that might be signed.

Sato admitted that it was the intention to take up all the clauses before going back to the disputed point passed the other day—Saghalien.

As for the report that the conference might adjourn from here to some other place, Sato merely remarked:

"This place is good enough."

CRUCIAL POINT

In Peace Negotiations Has Arrived—
Seven of the Twelve Japanese
Demands Agreed to by Envoys.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—The crucial moment in the peace negotiations has arrived. Less than 24 hours may develop whether the work of the representatives of Russia and Japan, who have been here only a little over a week, will come to naught.

Seven of the twelve Japanese demands have been agreed to. Five yet remain. As important as the others were by themselves, they occupy a secondary position in comparison with these which were taken up at today's meeting.

The frame work of an agreement having been erected, it will be but a short time before it is determined whether the structure shall be completed or destroyed. The punitive demands of Japan were left to consideration to the last.

RUSSIAN ENVOY
Asked How Long Peace Conference Would Last, Says That He Is Not Very Good at Guessing.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—M. Witte before he left for the navy yard this morning in reply to a question said: "We expect to take up today articles 9, 10, 11 and 12, and perhaps, article 5, which we passed over the other day. These matters are in a manner co-related. They touch each other in such fashion that we believe we can handle them together."

"Can you give us an idea as to how long the conference will continue, sir?" "Ah, no. I am not good at guessing," smilingly answered the statesman.

"Would it be advisable for me to secure a steamer passage for next week?" asked a foreign correspondent who was present.

"You might get a better steamer if you would wait in New York for a week or so longer," was the response. Witte would give no indication as to the nature of the articles nor as to his opinion as to what action would be taken upon them.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

Plenipotentiaries Are Sincere in Their Efforts to Bring About Peace in Far East.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 17.—A bulletin issued by the Russian and Japanese peace envoys announced that articles 7 and 8 of the Japanese terms have been disposed of, the former "in principle," the latter "unanimously," according to the official bulletins. Article 7 provides for the cession to China of the branch of the Chinese Eastern railroad running south from Harbin to Port Arthur and Dalny, and with a branch line connecting at Newchwang with the Shan-hai-kwan-Tientsin road. Article 8 provides for the retention by Russia of the line through northern Manchuria, which forms the connecting link between the trans-Siberian with its terminus at Vladivostok and Khabarovsk. From both sides it is learned that the acceptance "in principle" of article 7 only means that certain points remain to be elaborated, not that a dispute still exists.

There remain to be disposed of, in addition to the cession of Sakhalin island, which was passed over, the question of indemnity, which comes as article 9, the limitation of Russia's sea power in the far east, the surrender of the interned warships and the grant to Japan of fishing rights on the littoral north of Vladivostok. To all except the latter, to which Russia will agree, a negative answer has been returned, absolute in the case of indemnity and Sakhalin. The exchange of views on the five remaining articles is expected to be completed on Friday or Saturday morning at the latest. The plenipotentiaries will then adjourn until Monday, and the interim will probably be used by the plenipotentiaries to consult their respective governments. When they meet on Monday their last cards will be thrown on the table.

Neither the question of making Vladivostok an "open port" or the Amur river an international waterway, as some papers have stated, is included in the Japanese terms. Japan will make a stiff fight for the possession of the interned Russian warships. Japan is exceedingly anxious to obtain these ships, and in her argument will quote several international precedents in support of her demands. One reason why the Japanese are so insistent upon this article is because of their intention not to apply the indemnity, in case one shall be obtained, to the increase of the navy. The indemnity will be used first in paying off financial obligations incurred during the war.

Prospects of peace are distinctly brighter. The plenipotentiaries are laboring with a seriousness and earnestness which leaves not the slightest doubt that both are anxious to conclude a treaty. Though the main points remain to be contested, and the plenipotentiaries of each side speak as though the conference would go to pieces unless the other side give way, the spirit of compromise is in the air. M. Witte said: "I am doing all I can do for peace. Of the eight articles we have already considered I have yielded seven. No other statesman in Russia would have dared to do so much, and I have done what I have done upon my own responsibility."

The English money denomination found was once a pound weight of silver in its pure state.

WINTER BETTER

Will Probably Recover

WALSH'S CASE FRIDAY AT ONE

MINOR DISTURBANCES NEAR WEST END STOVE FOUNDRY

Chief Kraver Says Officers Will Tolerate No Disorder at the Plant—Other Arrests Made Thursday.

Walter C. Winter, the Pittsburgh detective who was shot by Anthony Walsh on Wednesday, was able to sit up today, and he will undoubtedly recover unless blood poisoning should set in. The danger of this complication is minimized on account of the correct habits of the wounded officer. His system is absolutely free from any taint of alcoholic poison, and is reinforced by a magnificent physique.

He is receiving the best of care and treatment at the East Main street Sanitarium, where he was seen Thursday morning by an Advocate reporter.

Winter was sitting in an easy chair and greeted the scribe most cordially, when the latter responded to a hearty "come in," in answer to his knock at the door.

"Well, how are you feeling this morning," asked the reporter.

"First rate old man, how are you?" replied Winter.

Continuing he said:

"I want to compliment the Advocate on the story of the shooting as printed Wednesday. It was absolutely correct in every detail, and I have a copy to send home to my wife, as it will tell her more in detail of the accident than I can write here. I expect to be ready for duty in a short time, as my wound is not as serious as we first supposed."

"The ball evidently struck a rib and followed it around to the point where it was taken out by Dr. Smith."

The bullet is in the possession of Joseph Moser. It is not flattened by impact and is in the same condition as when discharged from the cartridge.

Walter Winter, the wounded officer, lives at 406 Beaver street in Sewickley, Pa., which is a suburb of Pittsburgh. He is a graduate of two well known medical institutions at Seaford, England, and Toronto, Canada.

Two outbreaks occurred in West Newark Wednesday night, but no one was injured. The first was about 7 o'clock. Officer C. G. Shields, who made the arrest of William Mansey, for inciting a riot on Wednesday, went to a restaurant on Union street to purchase a paper of scrap tobacco. A crowd congregated at the door, and made a demonstration against the officer. The strikers in the crowd yelled: "Give him the same as Winters." The policeman drew his gun and flourishing it in the faces of the mob walked back to his post at the railroad bridge. He was followed by a big crowd, some of which got behind him, and he was practically surrounded.

A riot call was sent in, and the reserves were soon on the scene and the crowd dispersed. No one in the mob drew a pistol as far as the officers know, but the excitement was intense for a while.

The next outbreak occurred later, when Monroe George, the negro cook at the "Barracks," where the special officers are quartered, was followed by a hoisting mob. George had come to the city to get supplies and was returning when the crowd assailed him with verbal abuse. Finally he drew a pistol and shot twice, but as far as known, no one was hit. The mob however quickly dispersed.

Captain Kraver of the force now on duty at the Wehrle plant said today: "We will in a short time have a patrol wagon on the scene, and a force of picked men will be detailed for duty along the front posts. From now on there will be no foolishness. If a man becomes disorderly he will be loaded in the wagon and taken without ceremony, to prison."

The "riot call" is sent in by whistle but the nature of the call is a secret. This is necessary to protect the reserves. If it were known the strikers would send in "phony" calls, which would practically exhaust them physically.

At 11 o'clock this morning H. E. Carr, president of Local Union 168, of the Metal Polishers, Buffers and Platers, was arrested by Captain J. A. Kraver, and Superintendent E. C. Perkins of the Perkins Union Detective Agency of Pittsburgh, charged with assault and battery on Charles Freshman on August 7th.

The assault occurred at the corner of Fourth and Church streets and Freshman was badly beaten. Robb was arrested at the time but Carr escaped and was not located until this morning. Robb's case is set for hearing on August 22nd.

LOOKS LIKE PEACE.
Washington, Aug. 17.—On order of Assistant Secretary of State Peirce at Portsmouth, the chief clerk of the state department has sent a supply of parchment paper, the kind upon which treaties are drafted, to the peace plenipotentiaries. This fact is regarded here as another augury of the successful termination of the negotiations.

MANY VICTIMS

Disastrous Wreck Near Norfolk, Va., Thursday Afternoon.

(Bulletin.)

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 17.—A disastrous wreck is reported this afternoon at Boone Station. An excursion train on the Atlantic Coast line from Rocky Mount, N. C., for Norfolk, was derailed and three cars rolled into a deep ditch filled with water alongside. Many are reported killed or injured. All available physicians are being rushed to the scene. Only meagre details have been received so far.

PLACARDS

Mosques Cause Much Excitement.

Constantinople, Aug. 17.—Placards attacking the sultan were posted on mosques throughout the city today. The action has caused considerable excitement. The placards say the sultan is unworthy to rule and that his regime is intolerable. They conclude with: "Justice and liberty are our principles," and are signed "Turkish Revolutionary Committee." It is feared an attempt will be made upon the sultan's life.

CHINESE BOYCOTT

May Prevent the Export of American
Flour to the Orient, Says
Mr. Hill.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 17.—President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern road, who returned Sunday night from New York, gave out a short interview upon the crop situation and the trade prospects for the coming year. "If the Chinese boycott prevents the export of our flour to China, this will force about 20,000,000 bushels of wheat into other markets, mainly in Europe, the effect of which will be the reduction of prices there, and in that way it will affect the price of breadstuffs in all the wheat-growing sections of the United States."

COLORED MEN

Out With Manifesto to Deliver the Negro Vote of Ohio to John
M. Patterson.

Cincinnati, Aug. 17.—The Negro Protective Association of Ohio yesterday came out with a manifesto in which the determination to deliver the negro vote of the state to John M. Patterson was publicly avowed. The movement originated in the Cincinnati branch of the organization. It is the culmination of a series of offenses which the negro party has at the door of the Republican party, both throughout the state at large and in Hamilton county.

The particular cause for the sudden crystallization of sentiment against the present state administration is the failure of the Columbus authorities to grant the demand of the Negro Protective Association for a writ of quo warranto against the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Company, for the suppression of the "Jim Crow" car in Ohio.

FOUR CARRIERS

Making Sixteen in All are Allowed for Newark

MAIL SERVICE IS IMPROVED

ADDITIONAL LETTER MEN WILL GO TO WORK TO WORK SEPT. 1.

Postmaster Helsey Had Made Application for Five—Salary Ranges from $600 to $850 a Year.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 17.—Four additional letter carriers have been authorized for Newark. They will report for duty September 1.

Thursday morning when the attention of Postmaster George D. Helsey was called by an Advocate reporter to a dispatch that had been sent out from Washington announcing the fact that four additional mail carriers had been allowed Newark, he seemed greatly pleased. Mr. Helsey said that it was the first he had heard of the additional carriers having been allowed, although he had been expecting it for some time. He said that he was in hope that provision would be made for at least five extra carriers, but is pleased, nevertheless, that four have been given him. It was his intention, in case five carriers were allowed him, to provide better service for the business section and extend it. As it is now however, all parts of the city will be provided with excellent service.

The growth of the mail service in Newark during the past few years has been phenomenal, and so rapidly has the population of the city increased that it has constantly required additional carriers to properly keep up the service. When the free delivery was first established in Newark only four carriers were necessary to distribute the limited amount of mail received here. For some time past twelve carriers have been endeavoring to cover the city, but their efforts have been greatly hampered from the fact that the territory to be covered by them is nearly one-third more than it was a year ago, and the city limits are constantly being extended.

The salary of mail carriers the first year is $600, after which it is increased to $850.

DARKNESS

Accompanies Violent Wind and Rainstorm at St. Louis—Score of People Hurt.

St. Louis, Aug. 17.—A score of persons were more or less seriously injured in St. Louis and East St. Louis as the result of a violent wind and rainstorm which followed 10 minutes of sudden darkness. Two were blown from roofs of houses, many were injured by falling roofs, and one was hurt in a stairway crush, caused by a panic in the Louisville and Nashville freight office on the east side. The wind caused widespread damage on both sides of the river. Buildings were unroofed, chimney tops were blown over and suspended signs were torn loose and sent rattling along the streets. During the phenomenal darkness the wind reached a velocity of 18 miles an hour.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

Judge John Stewart was nominated for associate justice of the state supreme court by the Pennsylvania Democratic convention. Judge Stewart is the Republican nominee for this office.

A RESOLUTION

To Investigate Pennsylvania's Representation in Congress Will be Presented to That Body.

Washington, Aug. 17.—Representative A. S. Burr of Texas, is up in arms over the scandal disclosures in Philadelphia. He says:

"I believe that Philadelphia is credited with 500,000 more people than its actual population. A resolution will be introduced in the next Congress advocating an inquiry as to the representation of Pennsylvania in Congress. I have no doubt that because of the practice of carrying on the registration rolls the names of persons who have died and who have removed from the city enables the Republican party to be represented by at least two more Congressmen than it is entitled to. I have just come from Cane May and Philadelphia and know that the fraud practiced in that city is as bad as it has been described. It is as great a hardship to the Republicans there as to any one else, for Republicans as well as Democrats have been ruthlessly plundered."

HIGH AND LOW TARIFF LAW

RECIPROCITY CONFERENCE NOW ON AT CHICAGO WILL DEMAND IT.

National League Promised—Speakers Suggest Maximum and Minimum System—To Petition Congress.

(Bulletin.)

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Resolutions favoring a maximum and minimum tariff were presented to the national reciprocity convention today. The resolutions advocate a form of reciprocity which will give a low tariff to nations favoring the United States commerce and a high tariff to countries which discriminate in tariff against the United States. Congress was urged to act at once and it was decided to form a permanent organization. Governor Cummins of Iowa, said in the principal address: "Reciprocity has been damned with faint praise and false friends long enough. The time has come to unmask the people will know where their representatives stand. Let us fight this question out before the people."

Chicago, Aug. 17.—The national reciprocity conference, in session here, selected officers as follows: Permanent chairman, Hon. P. S. Packard, Iowa; first vice chairman, William C. Maybury, Michigan; second vice chairman, L. T. Prior, Texas; third vice chairman, Andrew G. Webster, Massachusetts; secretary, William R. Corwine, Iowa; assistant secretary, Frederick Larriba, Iowa.

"Dual tariff" is the cry that may ring through the United States for some years to come instead of the familiar call for "reciprocity." The new slogan means the passage of a "maximum and minimum" tariff law, permitting the establishment of reciprocal trade relations with friendly foreign countries by vote of congress.

It is probable the reciprocity conference will close its sessions by resolving itself into the dual tariff league, an organization to have a permanent form for the purpose of educating legislators and voters in the principles of the "high and low" system duties.

"I condemn the word 'reciprocity,'" said L. E. Lincoln of the Buffalo Live Stock association, who addressed the conference. "In the minds of many voters 'reciprocity' means nothing else than 'free trade,' and free trade is not the object for which this conference is called." This statement elicited a round of hearty applause, which broke forth anew when James F. Parker, chairman of the New York Produce Exchange delegation, made a similar declaration. Mr. Lincoln suggested as a title for the organization about to be formed the "High and Low Tariff League." He believed an organization with branches in every state could effectively accomplish its purpose.

Senator Shelby M. Cullom of Illinois said in part: "The west is almost unanimously in favor of reciprocity; eastern senators are almost solidly against it. The minority in the senate is divided; reciprocity under the fourth section of the Dingley act has failed. I believe that the Dingley rates are sufficiently high to warrant our entering into reciprocal arrangements with Central and South American countries, and with European nations as well. I very much prefer the adoption of the principle of reciprocity as a means of retaining and extending our foreign markets, as a means of quietly, without interruption of our business conditions, revising, where necessary, the tariff as a means of preventing discrimination against our products, such as Germany and other nations now propose to make. But if we cannot secure the ratification of reciprocity treaties, there is one other method that was seriously considered by the committee on foreign relations more than two years ago, when it became apparent that the reciprocity treaties could not be ratified, and that is the adoption of a maximum and minimum tariff."

Mrs. Harriet Overfield, a widow, 60, was found dead in a watering trough on the farm of her sons near Bellefontaine, O.

TAGGART TRIAL

Captain's Wife to Ask Court to Grant Decree

WITHOUT GIVING TESTIMONY

WOMAN WILL CHEERFULLY GO TO STAND IF NECESSARY

Depositions Read Thursday to Show
That Plaintiff Was Sober and Devoted to Wife and Boys.

Wooster, O., Aug. 17.—The depositions of C. J. Brugnier, master of the transport "Relief" in 1901, when Captain Taggart was quartermaster of the vessel, was read today in the divorce trial. He said Taggart was sober and was devoted to his wife and family. Similar depositions from several army men were read.

Without introducing a word of testimony, the attorneys for Mrs. Taggart will ask today or tomorrow that she be granted the divorce that both seek. The application is to be based upon the claim that Taggart's own admission on the stand and the admissions in letters to his wife after the separation are sufficient for granting the divorce to Mrs. Taggart on grounds of extreme cruelty. This plan is subject to change, that may be made necessary by developments when Taggart is put on the stand today to testify to parts of letters not read when Mrs. Taggart's attorney introduced the extracts. Judge Eason has allowed this. Mrs. Taggart has served herself to take the stand and looks forward to it with cheerful confidence. Her attorneys, in the event their motion is refused, are ready to start their side of the case tomorrow.

In the Erection of Steel Mill Furnaces Near Pittsburgh—Many are to be Employed.

Pittsburgh, Aug. 17.—Never before it is said has such activity been witnessed in the erection of steel mill furnaces and shops as is now being done in Pittsburgh and the Monongahela valley. The total cost of plants, either just completed, in course of erection or for which plans have been perfected is over $25,000,000, and the capacity of the iron and steel wire plants along the Monongahela river will be almost doubled when all plans are completed. Over 23,000 men will soon be given employment in these plants in addition to the present working force of almost 50,000 men.

GOVERNMENT

Supervision of Insurance Is Discussed at Oyster Bay With the President.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 17.—Federal supervision of insurance was the subject of a conference at Sagamore Hill. The parties to the conference were the president, S. R. Dryden of New Jersey, president of the Prudential Insurance company, and James M. Beck, special counsel for the Mutual Life Insurance company. The president for a considerable time, but especially since the disclosures made during the last few months regarding the operations of the Equitable Life Assurance society, has manifested a deep interest in the problem of national control of insurance business. While no announcement was made of the conclusions of the conference, if any were reached, there is ample authority for the statement that President Roosevelt will discuss the question of insurance in his forthcoming message to congress in the light of developments in the last six months. That he will recommend the enactment of legislation providing for federal supervision of interstate insurance there is no room for doubt.

NILES SHUT OUT BY NEL MASON

SPIT BALL ARTIST WAS NO TERROR FOR NEWARK AND HE WORKED THREE INNINGS.

Poor Fielding By Visitors Was Costly, While Newark's Two Errors Amounted to Nothing—Same Teams Today.

Nel Mason and his six well-scattered hits all supported by fast work on the part of the Newark team, made up a pretty exhibition at Idlewild park Thursday afternoon, when Newark gently applied the kalsomine to Charlie Crowe's Niles bunt, the score being 4 to 0.

The famous Spit Ball Stewart started to work for Niles. It is feared that if he had finished the game that his reputation would have received a big dent, but unfortunately for Newark and perhaps fortunately for him he got in front of one of Nel Mason's benders and took it on the arm. The ball struck him almost at the elbow and within a short time he was out of commission.

Lefty Boyle, late of Jack Goodrich's Mr. Vernon bunt, was sent in to serve as the chief magician for the visitors and in the first inning he pitched Newark got two clean singles. Only two more hits were secured, however, during the rest of the game, though Newark scored three runs.

Newark scored their first run in the first frame. Davis got a clean single and was sacrificed to second by a neat bunt from Snyder's bat. He went to third on a passed ball, after Snow got hit in the ribs with a swift one. Newark's manager and their clever shortstop worked the squeeze play to perfection and Davis scored, though Snodgrass was caught between first and second.

In that eighth inning Boyle received his poorest support. McDonald fanned but Patterson dropped the ball and when McDonald ran he threw wild to first. Wyntenn followed with a two-base hit and Mack went to third. Mason hit to Truly at second and reached first safely when Mack was caught at the plate. Davis got a base on balls and Snyder hit a high fly to Rankin in left field. This man misjudged the ball and muffed it. Everybody was running and when the ball was finally returned to the diamond, Wratten and Mason had crossed the pan and Davis was on third. Boyle realized that he would have to play the game himself and turned around and fanned Snodgrass, retiring the side.

In the eighth, Boyle issued free transportation to Schweitzer rather than allow him to hit the ball. This proved to be a poor piece of management, for he straightaway stole second and went to third when Bissell hit a grounder to the first baseman. McDonald got a pretty hit and the crack centerfielder chased home.

In the field Schweitzer played a bright game. Several difficult chances came his way and all were sacked as though they had fallen into a well. Doyle was hitting lively and did some clever base running. His work at the receiving end of the battery was superb. Several rash Niles men very foolishly tried to steal second and all died after a long slide through the dust.

In the first inning four men got to first. Two were caught at second and the last man was caught at third while trying to steal.

The Young Consumers defeated the Granville Street Stars Thursday morning on the Ash Street grounds, the score being 20 to 8. Batteries—Perry and Dolan; McKinsey and Schimel.

Base Ball Notes.

The game this afternoon at Idlewild park will be won either by Lefty Snyder or Silent Man Stone, the management not having decided which one of the twisters would work. The odds are in favor of Stone for the reason that it is difficult to get any one else to cover right garden like Lefty Snyder covers it.

Manager Snodgrass and the Newark bunch will trek to Coshocton Friday where they will play two games, putting on a week's-end exhibition with the Fountains there. They return home Sunday to play Lancaster here. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next week they play Zanesville on their own dump and then bring them back here for three games Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

OPTIMISTIC DEPEW.

He Does Not Allow Equitable Affairs to Spoil His Humor.

It was called to this country from Europe that Senator Chauncey Mitchell Depew, the ever genial and ever cheerful state man, campaign orator and posthumous speaker, was becoming old and bent, careworn and sorrowful as the result of worry over the dragging of his name into the investigation of Equitable Life Assurance society affairs. But when the junior senator from New York recently landed on American soil after his annual vacation in Europe his friends noted that no anxiety had bent him down, that his step was as elastic as of yore, that his characteristic smile had not come out and that he was free of worry, care and apparently care free.

"I can't speak for others," remarked the optimistic statesman, who is seventy-three years young, "but to me life is still worth living." His handsome wife, who stood by his side, smiled a glance of approval. Mr. Depew says that he is ready to face any criticism that may be made of his acts as a director of the Equitable and declares that the choice of Paul Morton as president of the society is a wise one, even though one of Mr. Morton's first acts in carrying out a policy of retrenchment was to lop off an annual fee of $20,000 that had been paid Senator Depew for his services as a legal adviser of the company. Mr. Depew cut short his vacation in order to meet any criticism of his course in connection with Equitable matters that might arise.

Senator Depew has said that he finds it very hard to refuse any request made of him. "That is the reason," he added, "why I make speeches at so many dinners and tell stories. That reminds me that I haven't got a new story since I've been abroad. Everybody says to me, 'Now, then, Depew, tell us some of your good stories,' and I have to tell 'em some of the old ones. But they seem to go."

Boundless Love.

"How much do you love me?" It was a thrilling moment for Bertram, but, gazing long into the passionate eyes of the beautiful creature who spoke, he did not quail.

"I love you so much," he replied, "that in view of my own shortcomings, in view of the uncertainty of life, my income, which ought to be double, but isn't, of the increased cost of living, the price of eggs, meat and milk never having been higher; of the terrible dressmakers' bills I read about in the papers—indeed, to make it short, of all the financial perils of modern life I love you, darling, altogether too much to marry you."

Then it was that the proud beauty, unable to restrain herself, threw herself bodily into his arms.

"Darling," she murmured, "you have stood the test. I am yours for the next three weeks."—Puck.

The Kind of Clothes.

"Now, boys," said the schoolmaster during an examination in geography, "what is the axis of the earth?" Johnny raised his hand promptly.

"Well, Johnny, how would you describe it?"

"The axis of the earth," said Johnny proudly, "is an imaginary line which passes from one pole to the other and on which the earth revolves."

"Very good!" exclaimed the teacher. "Now, could you hang clothes on that line, Johnny?"

"Yes, sir," was the reply. "Indeed!" said the examiner, disappointed. "And what sort of clothes?"

"Imaginary clothes, sir."

The Best of the Argument.

"So your officials were investigated by the grand jury?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Dustin Stax, "but we had the best of the argument from the very start. We could afford to lose the time better than the members of the grand jury and were also in a position to make up any losses by advancing prices."—Washington Star.

Night in Mermanville.

"Did you put out the catfish?" asked Mrs. Merman.

"Yes," replied Mr. Merman; "but if that dogfish doesn't quit baying at the moonfish I'll never get any sleep."—Judge.

HUMOR

A BACK NUMBER.

Why the Hale and Hearty Old Gentleman Felt Sad.

"Son-in-law of mine, too," groaned the hale and hearty old gentleman, "as bright a young fellow as I ever knew. I loved him as though he were my own flesh and blood. I never got such a throw down from the time I began to work at 50 cents a day to the present time."

"You always told me that he was a veritable Napoleon of finance."

"So I did, and so he is." And the old gentleman made a sorry attempt to laugh. "And I encouraged him in it. I must admit that I literally drummed it into him that business was business and that sentiment, friendship, even relationship, had to be put aside when it came to striving for money."

"But what has he done? Nothing criminal?"

"Taken me at my word, the world will say. I'm going to retire, I'm out—frozen out. You know the factory in which I have my biggest investment and controlling interest?"

"Certainly. It is coming money, and your salary as president is $20,000."

Here the old gentleman groaned again. "I went away for a vacation. What more natural than that my son-in-law should vote my stock? I gave him authority to do so, and I've no doubt that the young rascal recalled all that I had told him. He elected himself president, chose his own board of directors and increased the salary of his position $5,000 per annum. He just jellies me when I take him to task and tells me I should have no cares for the rest of my life. I'm simply turned out to pasture. My, what a boy!"—Detroit Free Press.

She Was Ready For Him.

He had come to break off the engagement. His mother didn't approve of his choice. Besides, he felt that he was too timid to assume the responsibilities of married life.

"I have come," he said, "to say that—Isn't there some one stirring at the side door?"

"It is nothing," she hastily answered. "You were about to say that?"

"I were about—I mean I was about to say that I think that we have—I mean I have—made a mistake in—I'm sure I hear somebody snuffling at the keyhole."

She laughed in an unmitigated way. "Yes," she said, "my football brother and his brindle bulldog are out there waiting."

He didn't ask what they were waiting for.

"I have come to say, dearest," he briskly remarked, "that I think I have made a mistake in permitting you to put off wedding day so far ahead."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A TRAGIC ISLAND.

Life in Sakhalin, a Settlement For Violent Convicts.

Sakhalin, the island which Japan is now taking—or, rather, retaking—from Russia, is the place to which Russia sends her violent convicts. The convict in Siberia has some liberty to console him for his detention, but the convict in Sakhalin none. When a party of convicts (having been pronounced "violent" by the governor of the Siberian station) are landed in Sakhalin the procession to the jail is as follows: First among the prisoners come men with fetters on their legs and linked together in pairs, the clanking of their chains making a lugubrious noise. Next come half a dozen men, each without fetters, but secured by the hands to a long iron rod. Then follow female prisoners, and after them, the most affecting part of the whole, the wives and children who have elected to accompany into exile their husbands and fathers. Behind them rumble "telegrams" or rough wagons, wherein are transported baggage and those children who are too young or infirm to walk.

When on the march the prisoners are allowed three pounds of bread and one-half pound of meat each per diem, and they are not forbidden to receive alms. But when they arrive at their destination their lot is a pitiful one. Their cells are damp and fungus covered, their food is less than the allowance during the journey, and their work in the salt mines is most exhausting. Most of the prisoners are very ignorant. Few of them can read, excepting the Caucasians, but they are all put to the same laborious work, and in the event of their being physically unable to perform their allotted tasks their punishments are very cruel. The English cat-o-nine-tails is nothing to the tortures of the "bodiga." In this instrument of torture the prisoner is so fixed that he can neither move nor cry out and wire thorns, bound at the end with pointed tin, strike his back at frequent intervals.

Other tortures to which prisoners are subjected are too dreadful to write about, and during all these tortures the prisoner is prevented by gags from obtaining even the poor relief of a scream. Surely the horrors of the salt mines of Hetskaya are nothing compared with the abominations of Sakhalin.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Norway's Merchant Marine.

The earnings of the Norwegian merchant marine, especially of vessels engaged in the carrying trade between foreign ports, constitute a large portion of the national revenue. Norway's merchant marine is fourth in size among the merchant marines of the world, being exceeded only by those of the United Kingdom, the United States and Germany. Its total tonnage is nearly 1,500,000 tons as against 625,000 tons for Sweden. Its total earnings in 1902 were $29,700,000 as against $13,400,000 earned by Swedish merchantmen, while the amounts earned by Norwegian vessels in carrying freight between foreign ports only were $22,375,000 as against $3,644,000 earned by Swedish vessels for similar services.—Harper's Weekly.

PRIVATES

Desert an Army Post When They are Asked to Work as Laborers at Fort Snelling.

St. Paul, Aug. 17.—A wholesale desertion of privates from the army post at Fort Snelling was reported at army headquarters here, when it was announced that about 50 privates had quietly left the post without asking the permission of the commanding officer and without leaving their future addresses. The cause of the desertion is said to have been a disinclination on the part of the men to do manual labor. The desertion occurred shortly after Aug. 1, when the men were paid. The government recently purchased a large tract of land to extend the rifle range at the post, and instead of hiring common laborers to do the work impressed the privates to do the leveling and grading.

Grave Trouble Foreseen.

It needs but little foresight to tell, that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young, of Clay, N. Y., did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by Hall's Drug Store, at 50c a bottle.

The war of the Dutch against the Achims has been going on for more than a century, and though the once powerful kingdom of Achin is now confined to the northwest corner of Sumatra the natives are still unquelled.

The largest drug store in the world is at Moscow. It was established 200 years ago and has at present over 700 employees. It makes up over half a million prescriptions every year. It has been made and done upon a pile of earth, causing the buggy to overturn and throwing the occupants to the ground. Fortunately no one was hurt. A red light had been set warning people of the danger, but this was not noticed until too late. No blame is attached to any one.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and, therefore, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only catarrhal cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer One Hundred Dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

At the Republican senatorial convention at Middletown, Ohio, a rupture occurred in the committee on resolutions over an endorsement of Governor Herrick. When the resolution endorsing Herrick's administration was presented for the signatures of the committee, the members from Brown and Clermont counties flatly refused to endorse either the Governor or his administration. And as the members of the committee were evenly divided on the question it was found to be necessary to ignore the whole matter and report no resolutions whatever. This course prevented an inevitable rupture which would have caused the Cox machine an immense amount of trouble all over the State.

A PARTICULAR MAN.

A man may be very particular in some things, and yet lack the essence of particularity even in larger things. Take the case of State Auditor Guilbert, for instance. In the State Auditor's report for 1893, page 82, when Mr. Guilbert was only chief clerk in the office, the following entry may be found recorded: "W. D. Guilbert, Chief Clerk, Nov. 16, 1892, to Nov. 15, 1893, $2,000.01."

As his salary (at that time) was only $2,000.00 the record shows that he overdraw the amount allowed him by law. Smile not and say the overdraft was a mere trifle. Remember the Chimney corner law that used to prevail in the woods of Noble county. "It is a sin to steal a pin; It is a greater to steal a tater."

Mr. Guilbert had a good memory, so that as shown by the State Auditor's report for 1904, on page 220, after he had become State Auditor with a salary of $3,000 and the Cox legislature had tacked on a sub-salary for him of $2,000 in defiance of the nineteenth section of the third article of the constitution, the report reads: "W. D. Guilbert, salary, $1,999.99."

Thus in 1904 the particular Mr. Guilbert paid back the overdraft of 1893, and made the record show it.

So far so good. Here Mr. Guilbert's particularizing ends so far as an exact accounting (in the official report) of all the salaries and compensations drawn by him is concerned.

He keeps a beautiful set of books, showing in detail the sums of money drawn out of the state treasury, especially by the other officials, but leaves it in doubt whether his salary is plan $5,000 ($2,000 by constitutional provision and $3,000 by evasion of the constitution) or $10,565 or some other sum.

Mr. Guilbert was so prompt in paying the overdraft of 1893, that we may reasonably expect him to give a detailed statement of all the payments in salaries and allowances of all kinds paid to him out of the treasury, along toward 1905, but the people would like to have it in 1905.

Otherwise they will insist that the officials of the bureau of uniform accounting inspect "them there books" at once.

The second effort of the Philadelphia police, under the reforms inaugurated by Mayor Weaver to purge the city's voting lists of fraudulent names resulted in purging the rolls of 60,083 of such names. In some of the wards the new canvass disclosed that 40 per cent of the registration was illegal. And the end is not yet. Another investigation is being made by the City party and it is believed that fully 75,000 illegal names will be shown up. One effect of the striking off these fraudulent names will be the loss to the old Republican machine of about a dozen councilmen who are allotted to the gang-controlled wards because of the bogus names on the voting lists.

Candidate of the Cox Machine.

The Noble County Leader, the organ of the Republicans of that county and published at Caldwell, the county seat, is one of the many Republican papers in the state which have bolted the renomination of Governor Herrick and rebelled against Cox rule of their party and direction of the affairs of state. The last issue of the Leader has this to say which is but a sample utterance of Republican papers disposed to defy the boss and his governor: "While attending the senatorial convention at McConnellsville, we met a number of Republican editors who expressed themselves as opposed to the re-election of Governor Myron T. Herrick and who claimed to us that they were using their papers in openly fighting his reelection. Such a state of affairs as this doubtless never before existed among the Republican newspaper editors and publishers of the state of Ohio. The claim is rightly made that Herrick is not the choice, by any means, of the Republicans of Ohio but that his renomination is the result of the grinding of the machine by which he is surrounded."

PEACEMAKER IS FATALY HURT

DUEL THROUGH WINDOW WHEN MR. MEAD TACKLED THE OPERATOR.

Who Took His Girl to Country Church—Marcum Himself Hurt, Kills His Man and Surrenders.

Williamson, W. T., Aug. 17.—Jas. A. Mead, a prominent young man of Naugatuck, Mingo county, was instantly killed while engaged in a pistol duel with Jacob Marcum, a telegraph operator at Naugatuck Station, on the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

In the duel a stray bullet penetrated the abdomen of Dr. James R. Keesee, a prominent young physician, who was attempting to quell the trouble, and he is now, at the point of death.

The trouble between Mead and Marcum dates only to last Sunday night, when each sought to accompany a young woman of that community home from church. The girl chose Marcum as her escort, and this so aroused the ire of Mead that he swore vengeance.

At midnight as a north-bound passenger train was pulling out of the station, Mead appeared at the window of the telegraph office, pistol in hand. Raising the weapon he took aim at Marcum through the window, which was partially raised.

Marcum, who had anticipated trouble, had a revolver on his table, and instantly he seized this and was soon returning bullet for bullet with his antagonist. Mead sent a bullet through the right arm of Marcum, but the latter then clutched the pistol in his left hand, and the next shot felled his antagonist, Mead, to the floor, a bullet having penetrated his heart. Mead never uttered a word after being shot.

Dr. Keesee, during the duel, rushed into the station with uplifted hands, pleading for the men to cease their firing, but his pleading only brought a mortal wound to himself, for a bullet not intended for him penetrated his abdomen, and his life, too, will pay the peacemaker's forfeit.

Marcum after the trouble with the bone of his right arm shattered from a bullet, walked a quarter of a mile through a heavy rain and surrendered himself to the father of the young man whom he had just killed, James H. Mead, he being a magistrate of that community.

Mead, the young man who started duel, was 30 years of age, a fine young business man, and was prominent in the affairs of his community. Marcum is from the old Kentucky family of Marcums, 28 years of age, and never knew such a thing as fear. He had resided at Naugatuck but a few weeks.

Dr. Keesee graduated last spring from the Louisville Medical College, was physician for a large coal colliery of Mingo county, and was an intimate friend of both the young men engaged in the difficulty. He lived formerly in Wayne county. Marcum will have a preliminary hearing today.

GREATLY PLEASED

Are All the People Who Have Seen New Kero-Air Burner at Allison & Williams' Store Here.

The Kero-Air Burner is greatly appreciated by our citizens, as is evidenced by the large number who call today to witness this Twentieth century wonder in operation at Allison & Williams' store.

The business men and women are especially invited to call this afternoon or this evening and inspect for themselves.

Remember, it is absolutely safe, no ashes, no soot, no odor, better than gas, coal or wood. Will fit any stove or range and the price is in the reach of the poorest.

Mr. Williams says: "It is the greatest and the best seller he ever handled." He further says that he is convinced that the thoughtful business men will cut off that gas and use one of these burners on their range, as the burner has all the convenience of gas, besides being cheaper and positively safe.

The Chicago Hardware Foundry Company refer to any bank in our city as to their standing. They guarantee every burner—and as they desire to introduce this burner throughout the United States immediately they offer big inducements to hustling business men.

Everybody is invited to call and inspect the burner, Allison & Williams' store, 53 West Main street.

CHASE FOR SLAYER

Led Carraciolo Into Many Strange Lands and Across Seas, Where He Found Marchette.

New York, Aug. 17.—After a search of nine years over three continents Antonio Carraciolo, a civil engineer of San Giorgio de Lomellina, Italy, has found the man he thinks is his father's murderer in a cell in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island.

It was the end of a pursuit in which young Carraciolo spared neither time nor money, and he has been supported in his endeavors by a younger brother in Italy and by his mother, who has been an invalid since her husband's murder.

Antonio cabled to his mother and brother that the murderer had been found, and directed them to notify the Italian authorities to take action for his extradition.

After the murder of the elder Carraciolo, who was a prominent attorney, the accused, who is Luigi Marchette, fled, but was tried in his absence, as permitted under the Italian law, and it is said, was adjudged guilty of murder.

He is under 11 months' sentence for assault in this country. Detective Sergeant Petrosino and Antonio Carraciolo called at the district attorney's office to ask about Marchette's case. They were informed that in any case Marchette would have to serve his sentence of 11 months and 29 days, and as many days additional as there remain dollars unpaid of his fine of $500 before he can be turned over to the Italian authorities.

Carraciolo says that Marchette was hired to kill his father by political opponents.

The elder Carraciolo was killed in August, 1896, during the campaign for the election of a member of the Italian chamber of deputies.

The search for the murderer has led the young man from Italy to Buenos Ayres, then successively to Houston, Texas, Galveston, Charleston, Atlanta, Norfolk, Montreal and other Canadian cities.

GUESTS

Waited for the Bride Who Came Not—Now Ward Is Hunting Up the Kentucky Widow.

Lima, O., Aug. 17.—The guests had assembled, the minister was in waiting and the wedding supper was being prepared in the bachelor apartments of D. W. Ward, whose engagement to a Richmond (Ky.) widow had been announced. The groom had gone to the Great Central station to meet his bride. He was to know her by her being accompanied by a young son and her brother, for Ward had come to know her through an advertisement.

Mrs. Mary Fishbe, a Kentucky woman of birth, was, however, not on board the Great Central flyer, and the guests were held four hours, awaiting the limited. Again Ward was disappointed, and has now started for "Old Kentucky" to look for his bride, refusing the thought that she has betrayed him.

BOTH IN LOVE WITH MR. DAMRON

ADONIS DIDN'T CARE FOR EITHER OF THE KENTUCKY GIRLS, WHO KILLED THEMSELVES.

Miss Williamson Took Morphine and Miss Gannels Blew Out Her Brains Some Time Ago.

Paintsville, Ky., Aug. 17.—The suicide in Big Shoals, Ky., of a beautiful young woman, who left a note that she was tired of life because she feared that the young man on whom she had voluntarily bestowed her affections did not care for her, recalls the self-destruction of another pretty girl near here about three months ago. She also left a note that she had decided to shuffle off the mortal coil because her affections were not reciprocated. Both young women, strangers to each other, as later investigation has disclosed, named the same young man as the Adonis without whom life to them was not worth the living. His name is John Damron, according to the notes they left, and he lives in Pikeville, Ky. He is said by people who know him to be a fine type of the young Kentuckian.

The young women who succumbed to death because they feared he did not love them are Miss Hattie Williamson, the daughter of Taylor Williamson, a wealthy merchant of Big Shoals, who was found dead in bed, and Miss Mary Gannels, who blew out her brains with a revolver a short time ago.

Miss Williamson's death was due to morphine poisoning. The bottle that she had emptied of morphine stood on a little table in her room. Under it was the note, in which she said that she was in love with John Damron, who did not love her.

The note left by Miss Gannels was roused in nearly the same language, and the handwriting of the two unhappy women presents many similarities.

Damron is a member of a highly respected family in Pikeville.

March had come, but winter is tenacious in Massachusetts. There were few signs of a breakup. The tops of the hills were still covered, no tinkle came from the frozen creeks.

Tom Mowbray, ascending to the top of Old Pine Knob, after a coast of nearly half a mile on his stout sleigh, looked on a fairy world. The evergreens were loaded with snow and searbed with hoar frost, the dark green boughs standing out between like wondrous carvings in frames of purest white. The air was like honey and diamonds. Everything glittered blindingly beneath the sun, which shone, brilliant and hard, from a cloudless sky.

Panting, Mowbray paused a moment on the top of Old Pine before dropping upon the sled for another lash down the road, a creamy ribbon between smooth white hills. It was a goodly stretch of country he surveyed. On the right of the road and halfway to the foot of the hill stood his own home. From the kitchen chimney a column of smoke, un-

JUST YOU,

Said the Widow When Asked to "Take Something"—He Tumbled and They Were Married.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—A record-breaking courtship was concluded on Washington street yesterday afternoon by Ephraim Dorton, a widower, and Mrs. Dorton, a widow.

"I believe I know you," said Dorton as Mrs. Dorton passed him.

"Well," said Mrs. Dorton, "I am sure that I know you. How are you, Charley?"

"Charley" was a nickname she gave him several years ago when they were acquaintances. They talked of former days and Dorton suggested that they go to a place of refreshment and take something.

"No, no; none of that," returned Mrs. Dorton. "That isn't what I'll take. For mine I'll just take you."

Her smile was encouraging and also convincing.

"I don't know anything I want more than I do you," he replied. A few minutes later they applied for a license.

"Give us a Squire and we'll be married right here," said the enthusiastic Dorton. A squire was brought in and the ceremony performed without delay. As they left the court house Dorton said he never dreamed of being married when he left home.

ROUND OBJECT

That Rolled With Duck Was the Head of His Uncle, Who Jumped from the Train First.

East Liverpool, O., Aug. 17.—When Frank Duck of Wellsville leaped from a moving freight train at New Salisbury yesterday he struck a round object and rolled with it down the hill. Picking himself up somewhat bruised, but not seriously injured, he found that the ball was the bleeding head of his uncle, A. G. Duck, who had jumped off the train just ahead of him and was run over. The man who was killed was a barber of Irondele, about 25 years old. The two had missed a train at Wellsville and were stealing a ride on the freight.

Insurance Pest.

"One of the pests of the insurance business is the man who makes application without having any intention of taking out a policy," said an insurance agent in discussing some of his experiences. "His name is legion, and he isn't doing it for the fun of the thing, either. He is invariably in the best of health, but appears to be haunted by a fear of organic trouble. By yielding to the solicitations of the insurance agent he can have a thorough medical examination. When the company's readiness to accept him demonstrates that he is all right physically he dodges the proffered policy on one pretext or another and thus has satisfied himself as to his health without it costing him a penny for good medical service. There are so many companies doing business that a new one can be worked every year for a long period. I've learned that the only way to bear this game is to make the thimble applicant believe he is not a desirable risk by subjecting him to a few extra examinations when there are suspicions of his sincerity, he begins to get scared, and is only too anxious to grab at a policy."

DUAL LIFE LED BY "SAM ROSS"

ACCORDING TO STORY OF WIFE, WHO SAYS HE DESERTED HER FOR ANOTHER.

Letter Just Received at Marion, Ohio, Dissipates the Mystery Surrounding Death of Mr. Hathaway.

Marion, O., Aug. 17.—A letter received by Dr. H. W. Hinklin from Mrs. Mary Hathaway of Carmichael, Pa., dissipates the mystery surrounding the recent death of Samuel Hathaway, who died under the name of Sam Ross at the Prospect Sanitarium of which Dr. Hinklin is the head physician.

Hathaway, according to the letter, had led a dual life. He deserted his wife and two small children at Carmichael for another woman a year ago. The author of the letter is the wife he deserted. Hathaway's death was due to uraemic poisoning superinduced by alcoholism. He died five hours after being taken to the sanitarium from his rooms in the Higgins House, on North Main street, this city. He was probably 60 years of age, while the woman with whom he lived was about 30. She was the mother of a sweet-faced baby girl 8 months old. They had been here two weeks when Hathaway died. Following is Mrs. Hathaway's letter:

"Carmichael, Pa., Aug. 14, '05. "Prospect Sanitarium, Prospect, O.—Gentlemen: Can you give me the particulars of the death of Samuel Hathaway, who was taken to your sanitarium August 1 and died five hours after being taken there? "I am his wife. He left me and his two little children over a year ago with a woman of the name of Miss Velma Rogers. I could never learn his whereabouts until I saw an account of his death in the papers. "I write to you wishing to know the cause of his death and if he made any confession. I learn by the papers that he was going by the name of Samuel Ross. Please write and tell me all about it and I will be very thankful to you, for I think that I am the one that ought to know. Yours respectfully, MRS. MARY HATHAWAY. "Carmichael, Pa."

VISITOR

Demanding $14,000,000 From the Post-office on a Money Order—Someone Else Got the Coin.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—Alex. Anderson was picked up at the postoffice by Detective Foppiano while trying to recover the amount of a money order for $14,000,000 which, he said, had inadvertently been paid to some one else. He was vigorous in his remarks over the loss.

When Alexander reached the police station he was wealthier than ever. He handed a package to Station House Keeper Griffin, remarking that it contained $10,000,000 and that Griffin might keep $5,000,000 for his courtesy. He stated casually that Helen Gould was a friend of his and wanted to marry him.

"What's the matter with this man?" asked Judge Floyd when the prisoner was arraigned in court.

"He tried to get $15,000,000 from the postoffice yesterday," said Detective Foppiano.

"Only $14,000,000, judge," said Alexander.

"How much money have you, any way?" asked His Honor.

"Oh, about $50,000,000," replied Alexander, jauntily.

His case was referred to a county squire, who will pass on his sanity.

AMUSEMENTS

Lovers of the good and beautiful in fiction will no doubt be gratified to learn that an opportunity will be given them to follow the career of gentle "Dora Thorne," the story that made Bertha M. Clay famous; in a dramatization which has been put forth for the first time this season. Who have not laughed and cried with the fortunate, and still unfortunate Dora, following her through her loves, hopes and vicissitudes with deep rooted interest; and when the story of her life was ended laying it aside reluctantly as though parting from a beloved friend. And then the beautiful little twins, the manly and impulsive Ronald Earle, the statuesque Valentine Charteris; all the well known characters come to life, and tell the beautiful story all over again. This play may well be termed "pure as the lilies," refreshing and wholesome, and is surely a play for all, reaching all and pleasing all in its direct touches into the hearts and home life of the rich as well as the poor. This splendid production will be seen at the Auditorium on next Wednesday, Aug. 23, matinee and night, when the beautifully decorated and remodeled theater will be opened for the season.

"The Belle of the West," which comes to the Auditorium soon, is from the pen of Harry B. Smith and the music is the work of Karl L. Hosenach. Striking and effective stage costumes, elaborate scenery, painted by John Young; stage pictures that please the eye; witty sayings that make you laugh in spite of yourself, are only a small portion of this popular production.

ROCKEFELLER

Gets $26,000,000 This Year—Oil Magnate's Immense Income Is Constantly Increasing.

New York, Aug. 17.—The Standard Oil Company has declared a dividend of 86 a share.

This brings to mind the fact that Mr. Rockefeller will most likely receive this year as he did in 1904 about $16,000,000 as his share in 12 months of the profits. And it must be remembered that the great oil monopoly is not Mr. Rockefeller's only coin-bringer. His $25,000,000 holdings in other investments net him, so financiers say, about $10,000,000 a year.

His annual income is now in the neighborhood of $26,000,000. So far this year he has given away about $14,000,000, and if he should keep up the ratio of the last eight months in endowments, he will be poorer at the end of the year than at the beginning.

HYPNOTIZED

In Coffin With Reptiles—Park Entertainer Under Arrest at Springfield, Ohio.

Springfield, O., Aug. 17.—Professor Siedenbergh was arrested last night at Spring Grove park and taken to police headquarters, where he was released on $200 bond, furnished by Manager John H. Miller of the Springfield Railway Company.

Siedenbergh is charged with torturing Anna Siedenbergh by placing her under a hypnotic spell in a casket of reptiles. She was awakened from her sleep and being hysterical she was put to bed at the Palace hotel, by request of Dr. D. W. Spence, president of the Humane Society. She cried in the professor's arms. No food has been given her since last Sunday, when she simply had a cup of coffee and a loaf of bread.

STEADY DECLINE IN BIRTH RATE

IT IS ARGUED THAT INFLUX OF FOREIGNERS RESPONSIBLE FOR FALLING OFF.

In Ohio the Decrease Has Been Steady For Five Decades—Negroes Most Prolific.

Washington, Aug. 17.—That there has been a persistent decline of the birth rate in the United States since 1860 is the conclusion reached in a bulletin just issued by the census bureau. The bulletin was prepared by Professor Walter F. Wilcox of Cornell university, and it is explained that, although the analysis made offers many suggestions as to probable tendencies in the birth rate of the United States, it is, primarily, not a study, in birth rates, but a study in the proportion of children to the total population, or to the number of women of child-bearing age.

The result of the study shows that at the beginning of the nineteenth century the children under 20 years of age, constituted one-third and at the end less than one-fourth of the total population. The decrease in this proportion began as early as 1810.

Between 1850 and 1860, the proportion of children to women between 15 and 49 years, the child-bearing age, increased, but since 1860 it has constantly decreased. In 1860 the number of children under 5 years of age to 1000 women 15 to 49 years of age was 624; in 1900 it was only 474. The proportion of children to potential mothers in 1900 was only three-fourths as large as in 1860.

No attempt is made by the author of the bulletin to determine the probable cause of this decline. An extended argument by General Francis A. Walker is given, suggesting that it is largely due to the influx of foreigners and the resultant shock to the population instinct of the natives. Professor Wilcox says the vital statistics of the United States are not sufficiently developed to afford a sound basis of judgment. He notes, however, that there has been a similar marked decline in the birth rate of Australia, where there has been no such torrent of immigration.

It is found that in the North and West there has been a more or less regular decline less marked. In 1850 the proportion of children to 1000 women in the North and West was five-sixths of what it was in the South; in 1900 it was less than three-fourths. In 1900 the smallest proportion of children was in the district of Columbia, where the number of children under 5 was hardly more than one-fourth the number of women of child bearing age. The next smallest proportion was in Massachusetts. The largest proportion was in North Dakota and Indian Territory.

In the general decrease between 1850 and 1900 not a single state of the North Atlantic division took part. In seven other states also, there was no decrease. In only six states, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana, did the proportion decrease in each of the five decades; and in only Delaware, District of Columbia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Oregon and Colorado did it follow the tendency for the country as a whole—that is, increase from 1850 to 1860 and decreased four succeeding decades.

In 1900, for the United States as a whole, the proportion of children was only two-thirds as great in cities as in the country districts.

A comparison is made between the proportion of children born of a native; others to 1000 native women of child bearing age and the proportion of children born of foreign born mothers to 1000 foreign born women of child bearing age. In 1900 the former proportion was 462, the latter 710, the difference indicating the greater fecundity of foreign born women.

The decrease in the proportion of children born to native white women was confined chiefly to cities.

The proportion of negro children to negro women 15 to 49 years of age was largest in 1880, and smallest in 1900. There has been uniformly a larger proportion of negro children than of white children. That difference more than doubled between 1860 and 1880 but in 1900 it was less than half what it was in 1880 and less than at any other census except 1860.

Though the negroes have a larger proportion of children than the whites, it has been noticed that the whites of the South have a larger proportion than the whites in other sections of the country.

The marriage is recorded at Elk, N. M., of E. Barfoot and Miss S. M. Boats.

At the Republican senatorial convention at Middletown, Ohio, a rumpus occurred in the committee on resolutions over an endorsement of Governor Herrick. When the resolution endorsing Herrick's administration was presented for the signatures of the committee, the members from Brown and Clermont counties flatly refused to endorse either the Governor or his administration. And as the members of the committee were evenly divided on the question it was found to be necessary to ignore the whole matter and report no resolutions whatever. This course prevented an inevitable rupture which would have caused the Cox machine an immense amount of trouble all over the State.

A PARTICULAR MAN.

A man may be very particular in some things, and yet lack the essence of particularity even in larger things. Take the case of State Auditor Guilbert, for instance. In the State Auditor's report for 1893, page 82, when Mr. Guilbert was only chief clerk in the office, the following entry may be found recorded: "W. D. Guilbert, Chief Clerk, Nov. 16, 1892, to Nov. 15, 1893, $2,000.01." As his salary (at that time) was only $2,000.00 the record shows that he overdraw the amount allowed him by law. Smile not and say the overdraft was a mere trifle. Remember the Chimney corner law that used to prevail in the woods of Noble county: "It is a sin To steal a pin; It is a greater To steal a tater." Mr. Guilbert had a good memory, so that as shown by the State Auditor's report for 1904, on page 230, after he had become State Auditor with a salary of $3,000 and the Cox legislature had tacked on a sub-salary for him of $2,000 in defiance of the nineteenth section of the third article of the constitution, the report reads: "W. D. Guilbert, salary, $1,999.99." Thus in 1904 the particular Mr. Guilbert paid back the overdraft of 1893, and made the record show it.

So far so good. Here Mr. Guilbert's particular ends so far as an exact accounting (in the official report) of all the salaries and compensations drawn by him is concerned.

He keeps a beautiful set of books, showing in detail the sums of money drawn out of the state treasury, especially by the other officials, but leaves it in doubt whether his salary is plain $5,000 (3,000 by constitutional provision and $2,000 by evasion of the constitution) or $10,565 or some other sum.

Mr. Guilbert was so prompt in paying the overdraft of 1892, that we may reasonably expect him to give a detailed statement of all the payments in salaries and allowances of all kinds paid to him out of the treasury, along toward 1905, but the people would like to have it in 1905.

Otherwise they will insist that the officials of the bureau of uniform accounting inspect "them there books" at once.

The second effort of the Philadelphia police, under the reforms inaugurated by Mayor Weaver to purge the city's voting lists of fraudulent names resulted in purging the rolls of 60,083 of such names. In some of the wards the new canvass disclosed that 40 per cent of the registration was illegal. And the end is not yet. Another investigation is being made by the City party and it is believed that fully 75,000 illegal names will be shown up. One effect of the striking off these fraudulent names will be the loss to the old Republican machine of about a dozen councilmen who are allotted to the gang-controlled wards because of the bogus names on the voting lists.

Candidate of the Cox Machine.

The Noble County Leader, the organ of the Republicans of that county and published at Caldwell, the county seat, is one of the many Republican papers in the state which have bolted the renomination of Governor Herrick and rebelled against Cox rule of their party and direction of the affairs of the state. The last issue of the Leader has this to say which is but a sample utterance of Republican papers disposed to defy the boss and his governor: "While attending the senatorial convention at McConnellsville, we met a number of Republican editors who expressed themselves as opposed to the re-election of Governor Myron T. Herrick and who claimed to us that they were using their papers in openly fighting his reelection. Such a state of affairs as this doubtless never before existed among the Republican newspaper editors and publishers of the state of Ohio. The claim is rightly made that Herrick is not the choice, by any means, of the Republicans of Ohio but that his renomination is the result of the grinding of the machine by which he is surrounded."

PEACEMAKER IS FATALY HURT

DUEL THROUGH WINDOW WHEN MR. MEAD TACKLED THE OPERATOR.

Who Took His Girl to Country Church—
—Marcum Himself Hurt, Kills
His Man and Surrenders.

WILLIAM OR. W. MEAD, Aug. 17.—Jas. A. Mead, a prominent young man of Naugatuck, Mingo county, was instantly killed while engaged in a pistol duel with Jacob Marcum, a telegraph operator at Naugatuck Station, on the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

In the duel a stray bullet penetrated the abdomen of Dr. James R. Keese, a prominent young physician, who was attempting to quell the trouble, and he is now, at the point of death.

The trouble between Mead and Marcum dates only to last Sunday night, when each sought to accompany a young woman of that community home from church. The girl chose Marcum as her escort, and this so aroused the ire of Mead that he swore vengeance.

At midnight as a north-bound passenger train was pulling out of the station, Mead appeared at the window of the telegraph office, pistol in hand. Raising the weapon he took aim at Marcum through the window, which was partially raised.

Marcum, who had anticipated trouble, had a revolver on his table, and instantly he seized this and was soon returning bullet for bullet with his antagonist. Mead sent a bullet through the right arm of Marcum, but the latter then clutched the pistol in his left hand, and the next shot felled his antagonist, Mead, to the floor, a bullet having penetrated his heart. Mead never uttered a word after being shot.

Dr. Keese, during the duel, rushed into the station with uplifted hands, pleading for the men to cease their firing, but his pleading only brought a mortal wound to himself, for a bullet not intended for him penetrated his abdomen, and his life, too, will pay the peacemaker's forfeit.

Marcum after the trouble with the bone of his right arm shattered from a bullet, walked a quarter of a mile through a heavy rain and surrendered himself to the father of the young man whom he had just killed, James H. Mead, he being a magistrate of that community.

Mead, the young man who started the duel, was 20 years of age, a fine young business man, and was prominent in the affairs of his community. Marcum is from the old Kentucky family of Marcums, 28 years of age, and never knew such a thing as fear. He had resided at Naugatuck but a few weeks.

Dr. Keese graduated last spring from the Louisville Medical College, was physician for a large coal colliery of Mingo county, and was an intimate friend of both the young men engaged in the difficulty. He lived formerly in Wayne county. Marcum will have a preliminary hearing today.

GREATLY PLEASED

Are All the People Who Have Seen
New Kero-Air Burner at Allison
& Williams' Store Here.

The Kero-Air Burner is greatly appreciated by our citizens, as is evidenced by the large number who called today to witness this Twentieth century wonder in operation at Allison & Williams' store.

The business men and women are especially invited to call this afternoon or this evening and inspect for themselves.

Remember, it is absolutely safe, no ashes, no soot, no odor, better than gas, coal or wood. Will fit any stove or range and the price is in the reach of the poorest.

Mr. Williams says: "It is the greatest and the best seller he ever handled." He further says that he is convinced that the thoughtful business men will cut off that gas and use one of these burners on their range, as the burner has all the convenience of gas, besides being cheaper and positively safe.

The Chicago Hardware Foundry Company refer to any bank in our city as to their standing. They guarantee every burner—and as they desire to introduce this burner throughout the United States immediately they offer big inducements to hustling business men.

Everybody is invited to call and inspect the burner, Allison & Williams' store, 53 West Main street.

CHASE FOR SLAYER

Led Carraciolo Into Many Strange Lands and Across Seas, Where He Found Marchette.

New York, Aug. 17.—After a search of nine years over three continents Antonio Carraciolo, a civil engineer of San Giorgio de Lomellina, Italy, has found the man he thinks is his father's murderer in a cell in the penitentiary on Blackwell's Island.

It was the end of a pursuit in which young Carraciolo spared neither time nor money, and he has been supported in his endeavors by a younger brother in Italy and by his mother, who has been an invalid since her husband's murder.

Antonio called to his mother and brother that the murderer had been found, and directed them to notify the Italian authorities to take action for his extradition.

After the murder of the elder Carraciolo, who was a prominent attorney, the accused, who is Liorogi Marchette, fled, but was tried in his absence, as is permitted under the Italian law, and it is said, was adjudged guilty of murder.

He is under 11 months' sentence for assault in this country.

Detective Sergeant Petrosino and Antonio Carraciolo called at the district attorney's office to ask about Marchette's case. They were informed that in any case Marchette would have to serve his sentence of 11 months and 29 days, and as many days additional as there remain dollars unpaid of his fine of $500 before he can be turned over to the Italian authorities.

Carraciolo says that Marchette was hired to kill his father by political opponents.

The elder Carraciolo was killed in August, 1896, during the campaign for the election of a member of the Italian chamber of deputies.

The search for the murderer has led the young man from Italy to Buenos Ayres, then successively to Houston, Texas, Galveston, Charleston, Atlanta, Norfolk, Montreal and other Canadian cities.

Waited For the Bride Who Came Not—Now Ward Is Hunting Up
the Kentucky Widow.

Lima, O., Aug. 17.—The guests had assembled, the minister was in waiting and the wedding supper was being prepared in the bachelor apartments of D. W. Ward, whose engagement to a Richmond (Ky.) widow had been announced. The groom had gone to the Great Central station to meet his bride. He was to know her by her being accompanied by a young son and her brother, for Ward had come to know her through an advertisement.

Mrs. Mary Fisher, a Kentucky woman of birth, was, however, not on board the Great Central flyer, and the guests were held four hours, awaiting the limited. Again Ward was disappointed, and has now started for "Old Kentucky" to look for his bride, refusing the thought that she has betrayed him.

BOTH IN LOVE WITH MR. DAMRON

ADONIS DIDN'T CARE FOR EITHER OF THE KENTUCKY GIRLS, WHO KILLED THEMSELVES.

Miss Williamson Took Morphine and Miss Gannels Blew Out Her Brains Some Time Ago.

Pikeville Ky., Aug. 17.—The suicide in Big Shoals, Ky., of a beautiful young woman, who left a note that she was tired of life because she feared that the young man on whom she had voluntarily bestowed her affections did not care for her, recalls the self-destruction of another pretty girl near here about three months ago. She also left a note that she had decided to shuffle off the mortal coil because her affections were not reciprocated. Both young women, strangers to each other, as later investigation has disclosed, named the same young man as the Adonis without whom life to them was not worth the living. His name is John Damron, according to the notes they left, and he lives in Pikeville, Ky. He is said by people who know him to be a fine type of the young Kentuckian.

The young women who succumbed to death because they feared he did not love them are Miss Hattie Williamson, the daughter of Taylor Williamson, a wealthy merchant of Big Shoals, who was found dead in bed, and Miss Mary Gannels, who blew out her brains with a revolver a short time ago.

Miss Williamson's death was due to morphine poisoning. The bottle that she had emptied of morphine stood on a little table in her room. Under it was the note, in which she said that she was in love with John Damron, who did not love her.

The note left by Miss Gannels was couched in nearly the same language, and the handwriting of the two unhappy women presents many similarities.

Damron is a member of a highly respected family in Pikeville.

JUST YOU,
Said the Widow When Asked to "Take Something"—He Tumbled and They Were Married.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—A record-breaking courtship was concluded on Washington street yesterday afternoon by Ephraim Dorton, a widower, and Mrs. Daisy Mays, a widow.

"I believe I know you," said Dorton as Mrs. Mays passed him.

"Well," said Mrs. Mays, "I am sure that I know you. How are you, Charley?"

"Charley" was a nickname she gave him several years ago when they were acquaintances. They talked of former days and Dorton suggested that they go to a place of refreshment and take something.

"No, no; none of that," returned Mrs. Mays. "That isn't what I'll take. For mine I'll just take you."

Her smile was encouraging and also convincing.

"I don't know anything I want more than I do you," he replied. A few minutes later they applied for a license.

"Give us a Squire and we'll be married right here," said the enthusiastic Dorton. A squire was brought in and the ceremony performed without delay. As they left the court house Dorton said he never dreamed of being married when he left home.

ROUND OBJECT
That Rolled With Duck Was the Head of His Uncle, Who Jumped from the Train First.

East Liverpool, O., Aug. 17.—When Frank Duck of Wellsville leaped from a moving freight train at New Salisbury yesterday he struck a round object and rolled with it down the hill. Picking himself up somewhat bruised, but not seriously injured, he found that the ball was the bleeding head of his uncle, A. G. Duck, who had jumped off the train just ahead of him and was run over. The man who was killed was a barber of Ironville, about 35 years old. The two had missed a train at Wellsville and were stealing a ride on the freight.

Insurance Pest.
"One of the pests of the insurance business is the man who makes application without having any intention of taking out a policy," said an insurance agent in discussing some of his experiences. "His name is legion."

and he isn't doing it for the fun of the thing, either. He is invariably in the best of health, but appears to be haunted by a fear of organic trouble. By yielding to the solicitations of the insurance agent he can have a thorough medical examination. When the company's readiness to accept him demonstrates that he is all right physically he dodges the proffered policy on one pretext or another and thus has satisfied himself as to his health without it costing him a penny for good medical service. There are so many companies doing business that a new one can be worked every year for a long period. I've learned that the only way to beat this game is to make the thrifty applicant believe he is not a desirable risk. By subjecting him to a few extra examinations when there are suspicions of his sincerity, he begins to get scared, and is only too anxious to grab at a policy."

DUAL LIFE LED BY "SAM ROSS"

ACCORDING TO STORY OF WIFE, WHO SAYS HE DESERTED HER FOR ANOTHER.

Letter Just Received at Marion, Ohio, Dissipates the Mystery Surrounding Death of Mr. Hathaway.

Marion, O., Aug. 17.—A letter received by Dr. H. W. Hinklin from Mrs. Mary Hathaway of Carmichael, Pa., dissipates the mystery surrounding the recent death of Samuel Hathaway, who died under the name of Sam Ross at the Prospect Sanitarium of which Dr. Hinklin is the head physician.

Hathaway, according to the letter, had led a dual life. He deserted his wife and two small children at Carmichael for another woman a year ago. The author of the letter is the wife he deserted. Hathaway's death was due to traumatic poisoning super induced by alcoholism. He died five hours after being taken to the sanitarium from his rooms in the Higgins House, on North Main street, this city. He was probably 60 years of age, while the woman with whom he lived here was about 30. She was the mother of a sweet-faced baby girl 8 months old. They had been here two weeks when Hathaway died. Following is Mrs. Hathaway's letter:

"Carmichael, Pa., Aug. 14, '05. "Prospect Sanitarium, Prospect, O.—Gentlemen: Can you give me the particulars of the death of Samuel Hathaway, who was taken to your sanitarium August 1 and died five hours after being taken there?"

"I am his wife. He left me and his two little children over a year ago with a woman of the name of Miss Velma Rogers. I could never learn his whereabouts until I saw an account of his death in the papers."

"I write to you wishing to know the cause of his death and if he made any confession. I learn by the papers that he was going by the name of Samuel Ross. Please write and tell me all about it and I will be very thankful to you, for I think that I am the one that ought to know. Yours respectfully, MRS. MARY HATHAWAY." "Carmichael, Pa."

VISITOR

Demanding $14,000,000 From the Post-office on a Money Order—Someone Else Got the Coin.

Memphis, Tenn., Aug. 17.—Alex. Anderson was picked up at the postoffice by Detective Poppliano while trying to recover the amount of a money order for $14,000,000 which, he said, had been inadvertently been paid to some one else. He was vigorous in his remarks over the loss.

When Alexander reached the police station he was wealthier than ever. He handed a package to Station House Keeper Griffin, remarking that it contained $10,000,000 and that Griffin might keep $5,000,000 for his courtesy. He stated casually that Helen Gould was a friend of his and wanted to marry him.

"What's the matter with this man?" asked Judge Floyd when the prisoner was arraigned in court.

"He tried to get $15,000,000 from the postoffice yesterday," said Detective Poppliano.

"Only $11,000,000, judge," said Alexander.

"How much money have you, anyway?" asked His Honor.

"Oh, about $50,000,000," replied Alexander, jauntily.

His case was referred to a county squire, who will pass on his sanity.

AMUSEMENTS

Lovers of the good and beautiful in fiction will no doubt be gratified to learn that an opportunity will be given them to follow the career of gentle "Dora Thorne," the story that made Bertha M. Clay famous; in a dramatization which has been put forth for the first time this season. Who have not laughed and cried with the fortunate, and still unfortunate Dora, following her through her loves, hopes and vicissitudes with deep rooted interest; and when the story of her life was ended laying it aside reluctantly as though parting from a beloved friend. And then the beautiful little twins, the manly and impulsive Ronald Earle, the statuesque Valentine Charteris; all the well known characters come to life, and tell the beautiful story all over again. This play may well be termed "pure as the lilies," refreshing and wholesome, and is surely a play for all, reaching all and pleasing all in its direct touches into the hearts and home life of the rich as well as the poor. This splendid production will be seen at the Auditorium on next Wednesday, Aug. 23, matinee and night, when the beautifully decorated and remodeled theater will be opened for the season.

"The Belle of the West," which comes to the Auditorium soon, is from the pen of Harry B. Smith and the music is the work of Karl L. Hoschna. Striking and effective stage costumes, elaborate scenery, painted by John Young; stage pictures that please the eye; witty sayings that make you laugh in spite of yourself, are only a small portion of this popular production.

A public dinner was served by the people of the village. Music was furnished by the Enterpean band of Columbus.

ROCKEFELLER

Gets $26,000,000 This Year—Oil Magnate's Immense Income Is Constantly Increasing.

New York, Aug. 17.—The Standard Oil Company has declared a dividend of $6 a share.

This brings to mind the fact that Mr. Rockefeller will most likely receive this year as he did in 1904 about $16,000,000 as his share in 12 months of the profits. And it must be remembered that the great oil monopoly is not Mr. Rockefeller's only coin-bringer. His $250,000,000 holdings in other investments net him, so financiers say, about $10,000,000 a year.

His annual income is now in the neighborhood of $26,000,000. So far this year he has given away about $14,000,000, and it he should keep up the ratio of the last eight months in endowments he will be poorer at the end of the year than at the beginning.

HYPNOTIZED

In Coffin With Reptiles—Park Entertainer Under Arrest at Springfield, Ohio.

Springfield, O., Aug. 17.—Professor Siedenbergs was arrested last night at Spring Grove park and taken to police headquarters, where he was released on $200 bond, furnished by Manager John H. Miller of the Springfield Railway Company.

Siedenbergs is charged with torturing Anna Siedenbergs by placing her under a hypnotic spell in a basket of reptiles.

She was awakened from her sleep and being hysterical she was put to bed at the Palace hotel, by request of Dr. D. W. Spence, president of the Humane Society. She cried in the professor's arms. No food has been given her since last Sunday, when she simply had a cup of coffee and a loaf of bread.

STEADY DECLINE IN BIRTH RATE

IT IS ARGUED THAT INFLUX OF FOREIGNERS RESPONSIBLE FOR FALLING OFF.

In Ohio the Decrease Has Been Steady For Five Decades—Negroes Most Prolific.

Washington, Aug. 17.—That there has been a persistent decline of the birth rate in the United States since 1860 is the conclusion reached in a bulletin just issued by the census bureau. The bulletin was prepared by Professor Walter F. Wilcox of Cornell university, and it is explained that, although the analysis made offers many suggestions as to probable tendencies in the birth rate of the United States, it is, primarily, not a study, in birth rates, but a study in the proportion of children to the total population, or to the number of women of child-bearing age.

The result of the study shows that at the beginning of the nineteenth century the children under 20 years of age, constituted one-third and at the end less than one-fourth of the total population. The decrease in this proportion began as early as 1810.

Between 1850 and 1860, the proportion of children to women between 15 and 49 years, the child-bearing age, increased, but since 1860 it has constantly decreased. In 1860 the number of children under 5 years of age to 1000 women 15 to 49 years of age was 634; in 1900 it was only 474. The proportion of children to potential mothers in 1900 was only three-fourths as large as in 1860.

No attempt is made by the author of the bulletin to determine the probable cause of this decline. An extended argument by General Francis A. Walker is given, suggesting that it is largely due to the influx of foreigners and the resultant shock to the population instinct of the natives. Professor Wilcox says the vital statistics of the United States are not sufficiently developed to afford a sound basis of judgment. He notes, however, that there has been a similar marked decline in the birth rate of Australia, when there has been no such torrent of immigration.

It is found that in the North and West there has been a more or less regular decline less marked. In 1850 the proportion of children to 1000 women in the North and West was five-sixths of what it was in the South; in 1900 it was less than three-fourths. In 1900 the smallest proportion of children was in the district of Columbia, where the number of children under 5 was hardly more than one fourth the number of women of child bearing age. The next smallest proportion was in Massachusetts. The largest proportion was in North Dakota and Indian Territory.

In the general decrease between 1860 and 1900 not a single state of the North Atlantic division took part. In seven other states also, there was no decrease. In only six states, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Kentucky and Indiana, did the proportion decrease in each of the five decades; and in only Delaware, District of Columbia, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Oregon and Colorado did it follow the tendency for the country as a whole—that is, increase from 1850 to 1860 and decreased four succeeding decades.

In 1900, for the United States as a whole, the proportion of children was only two-thirds as great in cities as in the country districts.

A comparison is made between the proportion of children born of a native: others to 1000 native women of child bearing age and the proportion of children born of foreign born mothers to 1000 foreign born women of child bearing age. In 1900 the former proportion was 462, the latter 710, the difference indicating the greater fecundity of foreign born women.

The decrease in the proportion of children born to native white women was confined chiefly to cities.

The proportion of negro children to negro women 15 to 49 years of age was largest in 1880, and smallest in 1900. There has been uniformly a larger proportion of negro children than of white children. That difference more than doubled between 1860 and 1880 but in 1900 it was less than half what it was in 1880 and less than at any other census except 1860.

Though the negroes have a larger proportion of children than the whites, it has been noticed that the whites of the South have a larger proportion than the whites in other sections of the country.

The marriage is recorded at Elk, N. M., of E. Barefoot and Miss S. M. Boots.

STATISTICS FOR THE YEAR 1904

INTERESTING RAILWAY FIGURES IN ANNUAL REPORT JUST MADE PUBLIC.

Inspection Trip Made by Baltimore and Ohio Officials—Local and General Railway News.

Washington, Aug. 17.—The annual report of the interstate commerce commission giving the railroad statistics for the year 1904 shows that there were at the end of that year 297,073 miles of railroad in the United States, of which 212,243 were single track, 15,824 second track, 1,467 third track, 1,467 fourth track and the remainder yard track and siding. The increase in single trackage for the year was 5,927 miles, exceeding the increase for any previous year since 1890. The number of railway corporations included in the report was 2,101. Of this number 1,086 maintained operating accounts, 848 being classed as independent operating roads and 238 as subsidiary roads.

B. & O. Inspection.
Traveling as second section of passenger train No. 100, a locomotive, baggage and the private car of W. C. Loree, passed through this city yesterday afternoon carrying a party of B. & O. officials on an inspection trip. J. F. Irwin, superintendent of the Newark division; W. C. Loree, general superintendent of the division, and J. A. Spielman, engineer maintenance of way, were the officials on board.

Daniel Smith in Town.
Daniel Smith, traveling passenger agent of this district for the Panhandle Railway Company, was in the city Thursday morning for a short time.

Atlantic City Excursion.
The Panhandle Railway Company will do a big business to Atlantic City tonight. It is expected that seven or eight sections of No. 20, due here at 9:15 p. m., will pass through the city at that hour. A large number of tickets has been sold at this point.

Railroad Motor Car.
It is announced by a prominent railroad journal that a railroad motor car has been practically perfected, and that its use will solve the problem of short runs on the smaller railroads and that on interurban roads it will likely displace the trolley cars. The motor car can be operated so cheaply, it is claimed, that railroads can profitably handle passenger traffic between towns at a rate that will compare favorably with trolley line rates, and that it will greatly increase the cost of interurban lines, equipment.

$25.45 to Colorado and Return from Newark over Pennsylvania Lines.—G. A. R. excursion tickets will be sold at the above fare. Their sale will begin August 29th and continue daily until September 3d. Tickets may be obtained to Denver, where the National Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be held September 4th to 7th, and to Colorado Springs or Pueblo. The fare is an unusually low one, and the occasion presents an exceptional opportunity for a sight seeing trip to Colorado and the West. Excursionists may go over one route and return over another, making the trip via Chicago, returning through St. Louis, or vice versa. Full particulars may be ascertained by consulting J. L. Worth, Ticket Agent, Newark, Ohio.

ACKNOWLEDGE IT.

Newark Has to Bow to the Inevitable. Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After the reader has read the public statement of this representative citizen of Newark given below, he must fairly, squarely and honestly come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the party in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work under similar circumstances. Read this:

Charles W. Manville, carpenter, of 24 South 4th St., Newark, O., says: "I have found Doan's Kidney Pills to be all that they are claimed to be. They cured me of a bad case of backache and inaction of the kidneys brought on by the grip. I was laid up for some time. My kidneys seemed to be sluggish and the secretions were irregular. At the same time I suffered terribly with pain in the back over the kidneys. There was a constant, dull aching varied with sharp twinges of pain that would strike me at all hours of the day and night. I tried different remedies without effect and had nearly given up hope when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, bought at Crayton's drug store. The result was a cure and a decidedly lasting cure. In 1896 I told of my case in a public statement and now that eight years have passed I can point to my own experience and say that Doan's Kidney Pills make permanent cures."

GIRL'S STORY

Mystery Surrounding the Murder of Young Hamilton May Be Cleared Up by Girl's Arrest.

Washington, Pa., Aug. 17.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Clare Bain Hamilton, 18, son of a well known and wealthy farmer of Chambers township, near Meadow Lands, Pa., is thought has been cleared up by the arrest of a girl named Ida Neely, at Canonsburg, Pa., who has confessed that she fired the fatal shot. He was arrested charged with the crime. On the night of the murder young Hamilton left the home of a young lady and was running to catch a car when shot. According to the girl's story she, Glanotti and another couple were at the point where the boy was killed, and when he came running towards them Glanotti fired directly at the approaching runner. She says the Italian had trouble with another man, for whom Hamilton was mistaken.

TROLLEY CAR HIT AT A CROSSING

Cincinnati Suburb the Scene of Serious Railway Accident—Three Men Dead and Ten Hurt.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 17.—Three persons were killed and 19 injured when a fast-running through express from the east on the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern crashed into a Winton place trolley car on the grade crossing at Avenue avenue, Winton place, a suburb of this city. The dead: Robert Smith, a retired grocer of Winton place; William Tieting, Jr., carpenter; an unidentified man. The injured: A. H. Newton, mail clerk, back crushed; S. B. Spaulding, engineer, of Chillicothe, O., head and arms cooked by steam, will probably die; Wilbur Maish, 12, crushed about the head; William Gallivan, traveling engineer, crushed about the head; Mrs. Varner, cut about the head, not serious; Frank W. Lindsley, slightly; F. W. Brown, fireman, injured in jumping; two others whose injuries were slight, and who refused to give their names. According to eye-witnesses of the wreck, it was due to an error of John Driscoll, gate tender at the crossing. He had let the gates down to allow a freight train to pass the crossing. The engine of the freight emitted heavy clouds of smoke, and after it passed the gate tender did not notice the passenger bearing down at a high rate of speed toward the crossing. He raised the gate and gave the signal for the car to proceed across the tracks. With a frightful crash the engine struck the back part of the car, and it was tossed a wreck in all directions.

The collision was caused by the sudden stopping of the Pasadena car falling to work, the latter car crashed into the one ahead.

WALKED

From Creston to Gotham, Aged Lady Footed From West Virginia to New York—Appealed for Aid.

New York, Aug. 17.—On her way from Creston, W. Va., to Ottawa, Canada, and having walked from West Virginia to this city, Mrs. Martha Rafe, 60 years of age, a stout, cheery, motherly looking woman, applied at the department of outdoor poor yesterday for transportation the rest of the way to Canada. She was evidently ready to walk the remainder of the distance if necessary, for when Superintendent Meeks told her to wait while until he could attend to her case, she misunderstood him and started out of the office, saying:

"Well, if you all can't do anything for me, I guess I can walk to Ottawa, same as I walked here from West Virginia."

Superintendent Meeks stopped her, and when he heard her story, he said he would interest the United Charities in her case, and see if transportation to Ottawa could not be given her.

According to Mrs. Rafe, she formerly lived with relatives in Ottawa, but went to West Virginia four years ago to try to obtain papers and other evidence that would enable her to claim a pension as a soldier's widow, her husband having served in the civil war. She failed in these efforts, and when her relatives in Creston saw that she could not hope to get the pension, they told her, she says, that they could shelter her no longer and that she must seek a home with her other relatives in Ottawa. Mrs. Rafe says her Ottawa relatives would shelter her, but that they could not afford the money to pay her transportation, so she decided to walk to Canada. She started about six weeks ago and walked whenever the weather was clear, aiming for New York. She says that she averaged 15 miles a day.

OLD, CHEAP MONEY

Seems to Have Preference Over New Coin in China.

San Francisco, Aug. 17.—Carl Beckman, a Berlin banker, a recent arrival here, who has been traveling extensively in China, says that a grave monetary crisis is liable to occur in China before long. He says:

"Heretofore the 'cash,' a copper coin in value equal to about one twentieth of the American cent, has been the chief coin in circulation. But recently there has been an extensive mintage of a coin called the 'cent.' It is equal to about 10 'cash.' Of the latter, fully 1,700,000 were coined last year, while the mintage of the 'cash' has not been increased. Now, while the value of the cent is nominally about ten times that of the 'cash,' its intrinsic value is not nearly so much larger, and I fear that the less valuable intrinsically of the two coins will drive out the other. I doubt if the industrial strength of China is such as to make it prepared to substitute such a unit of money as the 'cent' for the much less valuable unit, on which transactions have been based in the past."

ANSWER IS FILED BY DEFENDANTS

MOTION MADE TO DISSOLVE INJUNCTION HERETOFORE GRANTED BY COURT.

Suit to Obtain Possession of Little Girl—Realty Transfers—Bottle Suit—Court Budget.

In the case of Robert Rinker against Richard L. Tannehill and others, the defendants have filed their answer. The defendants, Tannehill & Swartz, admit that they are residents and householders of the city of Newark and that the defendant, Eli Williams, is a resident and householder of Madison township; that the plaintiff is an employee of Graff & Bradley, doing business in the city of Newark; that there are and have been in Newark township two justices of the peace and a mayor of said city having jurisdiction which the law gives to said offices; that the said defendant, Swartz, has a claim against said plaintiff amounting to $84.50, for which he sued the plaintiff before the said Eli Williams, justice of the peace in and for Madison township, Licking County, Ohio, and that one L. V. Bates was specially deputed to serve said writ and that he did serve the same—the said defendants deny each and every allegation contained in said answer and they say the same are untrue.

And these defendants further answering say that the said Eli Williams as such justice of the peace had full and complete jurisdiction of said case and of the process of attachment issued therein, and had under said process full and complete jurisdiction over said plaintiff in said case, and that the said action was properly and legally brought by the said Swartz against the said plaintiff before said justice of the peace.

That the said plaintiff has a legal and adequate remedy at law and that said court had no jurisdiction to issue the injunction that has heretofore been issued in this case upon the allegations contained in said petition.

Wherefore said defendants pray judgment that the said petition be dismissed and that the injunction heretofore granted in this case be dissolved, and defendants pray for all other proper relief.

Motion to Dissolve Injunction.

In the above case the defendants have filed a motion wherein they move the court for justice thereof to dissolve the injunction heretofore granted for the following reasons:

1. That the allegations of said petition are insufficient, in law to entitle the plaintiff to said injunction against said defendants.

2. That the court has no jurisdiction of the subject matter contained in said petition, or to issue said injunction for the reason that the said plaintiff has an adequate remedy at law.

3. That the allegations of the said petition are untrue.

4. For the reason that the said justice of the peace, Eli Williams, had jurisdiction of the subject matter in said petition and of the plaintiff as a defendant therein and had full and complete jurisdiction to issue writ of attachment, therein and all the proceedings and process had and issued in said case before said justice of the peace were legal and proper. Kibler & Kibler, attorneys for the defendants.

INTO A TUB

She Jumped and Pulled Another One Over—Quick Wit Saved the Woman's Life.

Richmond, Ind., Aug. 17.—As a result of the explosion of a can of gasoline last night in the home of Mrs. Marion Justice, a widow, the house and its contents were destroyed. Mrs. Justice, who was alone, ran from the house, her clothing a mass of flames. She saved herself from being literally cooked to death by rare presence of mind. In the yard were several tubs filled with water which had been used in washing clothes during the afternoon. Jumping into one of these Mrs. Justice pulled another tub up on her, and the splashing waters quenched the flames. Her burns are serious, however, and she may not recover.

HANGED HIMSELF IN URBANA JAIL

Bowen, Who Was Implicated With Ex-Mayor Standish, Committed Suicide at Urbana, Ohio.

Urbana, O., Aug. 17.—Columbus Bowen hanged himself in jail here this morning. He was implicated with E. B. Standish, ex-mayor of Woodstock, who is serving a three years' sentence in the penitentiary for subornation of perjury in the cases which grew out of the murder of Wilbur Latimer, a Woodstock merchant, last summer. It was charged that Standish and Bowen induced a convict in the Mansfield reformatory to confess that he committed the murder. This confession afterwards was repudiated and Standish and Bowen were arrested.

DOWN OLD PINE KNOB

By M. J. Phillips

Copyright, 1905, by M. J. Phillips

March had come, but winter is tenacious in Massachusetts. There were few signs of a breakup. The tops of the hills were still covered, no tinkle came from the frozen creeks.

Tom Mowbray, ascending to the top of Old Pine Knob, after a coast of nearly half a mile on his stout sleigh, looked on a fairy world. The evergreens were loaded with snow and bearded with hoar frost, the dark green boughs standing out between like wondrous carvings in frames of purest white. The air was like honey and diamonds. Everything glittered blindingly beneath the sun, which shone, brilliant and hard, from a cloudless sky.

Panting, Mowbray paused a moment on the top of Old Pine before dropping upon the sled for another dash down the road, a creamy ribbon between smooth white hills. It was a goodly stretch of country he surveyed. On the right of the road and halfway to the foot of the hill stood his own home. From the kitchen chimney a column of smoke, un-troubled by vagrant wind, rose straight in the air. A few rods beyond the house the railroad track crossed the road. At the bottom of the little valley the iron bridge over Winkos creek marked the end of his coast.

Tom was twenty-four and stood a full six feet, but he still loved, boy-like, to cruise at breakneck speed over courses that would have frightened expert tobogganists. The road down Old Pine was treacherous, icy from the warm noonday sun and the mid-night frosts. It was full of quick dips and turns, which sent many a youth careering over the snow crust on head and shoulders while his sled followed a path of its own in another direction.

Mowbray's long coaster, of stout oak frame, shod with springy steel runners, was paused for another birdlike flight when a vehicle appeared on the bridge, headed toward Old Pine. It was an old fashioned cutter drawn by a ponderous farm horse. A splash of red was visible above the cutter, whereupon Tom's heart beat impatiently. Horse and cutter were the property of John Higgins, Mowbray's neighbor on the north; the carmine was a tan of shanter, and the person beneath it was Mrs. Higgins' pretty niece from Boston, Miss Jessie Boone.

"Miss Boone going to town with old Duke," mused Tom. His keen eye caught the prim and unaccustomed manner in which the girl held the reins, and he smiled. "Driving's something new for her, but she's safe as a church. Duke won't run away, although"—the smile became a grin—"I don't say he won't balk."

Kincaid's, the nearest town, was two miles back of Old Pine. Long years of jogging along the road and over the steep hill had made a misanthrope of Duke. He learned to balk, briefly and unavailingly with Higgins, but where strangers were concerned with entire and disconcerting success.

The balky fits were intermittent. Sometimes he went for months without a protest, mute indignation visible, however, in every line of his sturdy old frame as he approached Old Pine. Duke had evidently been on his good behavior or the Higginses would never have trusted their guest to his tender mercies.

The horse and his idiosyncrasies did not long occupy Mowbray's mind. Miss Boone was a much more agreeable subject for thought, a subject which had been ever present in Mowbray's brain since her arrival a week before.

"She's the nicest girl I know," said the young man to himself with entire conviction. "Those big gray eyes of hers! I wonder, and a flush for which the nipping morning air was not altogether responsible overspread his face. 'If she's got a fellow in Boston,'

Duke, wise old equine, knew that no master hand held the reins. From a brisk trot his gait insensibly slackened to a shuffle. When the slope of Old Pine began he subsided to a walk. He gave one or two backward glances in response to urging from Miss Boone's red lips. When the cutter stood squarely on the railroad track he glanced sadly at the towering hill and stopped.

The girl chuckled impatiently and jerked at the reins. Duke planted his legs immovably and laid back an ear. Miss Boone laid the whip across the horse's broad back apologetically, with no result. Then, the gray eyes flashing and the lips crossed together, they were a mere scarlet line, she struck right heartily. Duke never budged.

Mowbray, mob-served by the girl, stood on the hilltop and enjoyed the affair immensely. "She's got grit, all right," he observed to his sled. "At first she thought the old boy was tired. Then it occurred to her that he was a soldiering. How she swings that gad! Shucks! Who'd thought her little fist could grip the gad that way? And that Duke villain is just enjoying himself!"

More from sheer vexation than fatigue Miss Boone ceased to ply the whip and looked helplessly about. It did not occur to her to look upward. Mowbray felt that she was on the verge of tears and was about to reassure her with a cheery cry when a sharp whistle froze it in his throat. The Boston express!

This point the track, sunk in a deep cut, described a sharp curve to the left. A train for these reasons was not visible until within a short fifty yards from the crossing. The cutter, its lovely freight unconscious of the death swooping down, stood squarely between the rails. Miss Boone was a stranger in the neighborhood and paid no heed to the whistle, if, indeed, she heard it, so great was her anger at Duke.

Meanwhile Tom was thinking frenziedly. A cry of warning would not do. The train was scarcely farther away than was Mowbray himself. The girl might not understand. If she did, the lumbering robes and blankets in which she was swathed could not be torn off in time for a leap to safety. In his agony and horror Mowbray gripped the sled until his muscles creaked. That gave him an idea—the sled, the sled!

The train had not gone its length so rapidly did these thoughts flash through the young man's mind. Raising the coaster, he took two or three quick steps and flung himself face downward upon it. Responding to the impetus, the sleigh rushed madly down the hill.

The flexible runners creaked and sprang. The wind whistled weird tunes in Mowbray's ears. At the back of his brain something prayed that he might be in time, but all his faculties were intent on keeping the sleigh upright. Once for a second—nay, an eternity—it rose on a single runner. Again as they followed a sharp angle it slowed the width of the road. But Providence rode with Mowbray that morning, and catastrophes could only threaten.

Twenty feet from the cutter he jerked the head of the coaster suddenly into a snow bank. His own momentum carried Tom straight ahead. Rolling like a frightened caterpillar, he crashed into the cutter. Something snapped, and a horrid pain stabbed him, but he scrambled blindly to his feet. Somehow he snatched the girl from the cutter, and they fell to the roadside in safety as the train thundered by, hurling fragments of the wrecked vehicle high in the air. Duke, uninjured, but thoroughly cured of his balkiness, galloped clumsily up Old Pine.

"Of course," said Tom in telling the story afterward, "I broke an arm, but," with a proud and tender glance at the blushing Mrs. Mowbray, "if I had as many arms as an octopus I'd break 'em all for a wife like her!"

Willing to Pay For His Contempt.
The following anecdote is told of General Gilman Marston, a once famous New Hampshire lawyer:

General Marston was attending court at Dover, when a young attorney made a motion that was denied by the court. The young man remonstrated against what he thought was the wrong ruling of the judge. So vehemently did he remonstrate that he was fined $10 for contempt of court. An older attorney took the matter up, and he was fined a similar sum. Still another, who thought he stood a little better with the judge, endeavored to straighten the matter out, but he, too, enriched the coffers of the state by paying a "ten spot" for contempt.

General Marston was then seen to rise in his seat and advance to the clerk's desk. Taking his long pocket-book from his pocket, he took out two ten dollar bills and laid them on the desk.

"What is that for?" said the court. "I want you to distinctly understand," said the general, "that I have just twice as much contempt for this court as any man here, and I am paying for it."—Boston Herald.

A Hole For Each Fox.

An officious little country station master recently discovered a gentleman enjoying a cigar in a compartment not reserved for smokers.

The traveler wore a top hat, and the little station master approached him in all humility.

"You should not smoke, sir," he began.

"Indeed," ejaculated the traveler, "that is what my friends say."

"You misunderstand me, sir," returned the station master. "You must not smoke."

"So my doctor tells me," responded the other.

The station master was rapidly losing his temper, and, assuming the most severe attitude he could command, he roared:

"But it's against the regulations and you shan't smoke, sir!"

"Dear me," exclaimed the unmoved offender in grave tones. "That's my wife to a tee!"—London Globe.

JAPAN OF THE FUTURE.

Island Kingdom's Plans For Vast Empire In Asia.

In a special dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald from Portsmouth, N. H., Walter Wellman says:

"There is to be a Japanese empire on the mainland of Asia. It is to embrace Korea and Manchuria, and probably a part of Siberia. The Japan of the present is a mere island kingdom. The Japan of the future is to rule the littoral of the northern Asiatic continent, reaching far into the interior, comprising vast, fertile and populous provinces. The new Japan is to be thrice as great in area and twice as great in population as the Japan of the present."

"Japan's sea is to be the center, the heart, of this new empire. That sea is to become a Japanese lake. Japan is to dominate it and all the lands lying about it. This dominance of the Japanese sea and its dominance on all sides the Japanese hold is absolutely essential to their national safety."

"The pretension the Japanese put forth as to the sea of Japan is not unlike the Monroe doctrine, which the United States applies to the Caribbean sea. Japan has a Monroe doctrine of her own, and the meaning of it is that Japan will view as an unfriendly act any effort on the part of the European powers to establish their sovereignty or to plant their systems on or near the shores of the sea of Japan. This Japanese Monroe doctrine applies not only to Russia, but to all European powers."

"The information upon which this dispatch is based comes from high and unimpeachable sources—from authority which would create surprise were I at liberty to identify it."

"I have the highest authority for the statement that if the Russians find themselves unable to agree to a treaty which achieves this end there will be no peace. The Japanese have set the stakes which are to mark the boundaries of their national domain or sphere of influence in the future. The line thus blazed in the rough is not hard and fast. There is a margin left for trading, for accommodation and for seeming yielding on nonessentials."

A RATTLESNAKE DINNER.

Reptile Furnished Entire Menu For Remarkable Feast In Lincoln, Neb.

Rattlesnake soup in buffalo horns, boiled rattlesnake, rattlesnake fritters, fried scrambled rattlesnake, breaded rattlesnake, rattlesnake pudding. This is the menu recently served to a Lincoln, Neb., man, W. J. Smith, and he declares that he enjoyed it, says a Lincoln special dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The occasion was a dinner in celebration of the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ostrander of Billings, Mont., given by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Morrison, who were chaperoning a camping party on Bridger mountain, several miles northwest of Caspar, Wyo. The dinner is considered the most unique of any served in the United States for many years.

The meal was prepared over a grasswood fire, part of the cooking being done in the Indian fashion by means of hot stones. The snakes for the spread were secured by Mr. and Mrs. Morrison, who live on Bridger mountain. Mr. and Mrs. Ostrander, the guests of honor, kept the skin of the largest serpent, which was over three feet long, as a souvenir of the memorable occasion.

The last course, rattlesnake pudding, was pronounced especially delicious by the guests. It was composed of two parts of gelatin in one part of flesh taken from the tail of the snake next to the rattles. This was crushed through a sieve and was of about the consistency of sugar syrup. It was then boiled gently over the campfire until thick.

A WILL'S PRAYER TERM.

Young Man Must Attend Mass Regularly to Get Big Estate.

Before he can inherit his father's estate John T. O'Connor, stage electrician at the Orpheum theater, in Kansas City, Mo., must give up the theatrical business and attend mass every Sunday morning. If he does not comply with the conditions he will be cut off without a cent, says a Kansas City special to the Chicago Record-Herald.

Such are the terms contained in the will of Patrick O'Connor, father of John T. O'Connor, filed recently in the probate court.

The estate consists of 20,000 shares of Victoria copper mining stock, two lots in Decatur, Ill., and the O'Connor home. The aggregate value is $25,000.

If the son refuses to quit the theater the estate is to go to other relatives. O'Connor expects to be able to dodge the theater clause of the will, but is willing to go to mass.

THE CHINESE BOYCOTT

What the Celestial Kingdom Is Fighting For.

BAR ON ALL THINGS AMERICAN.

Main Provisions of Pact Which Band Merchants of China Against the United States—Heavy Penalty For Violating Any of the Provisions. Boycott's Effect on American Trade.

Over 10,000 of the leading merchants in Hongkong, Shanghai, Canton, Fuchan, Amoy, Tientsin and other principal cities in China are said to have signed the Chinese boycott of America and all things American, and the boycott resolution carries with it a fine of $5,000 for its violation, says a San Francisco special dispatch to the Washington Star. This boycott went into effect on the "first day of the seventh moon," but San Francisco, which carries on nearly one-half of the export trade between the United States and China, has not as yet felt it to any extent, with the exception of a few exporters who have had their orders canceled by cable. However, San Francisco may in time suffer, as the Chinese are a persistent though slow moving people, and once they become possessed with an idea they hang to it with proverbial stubbornness.

This boycott is directed against the Chinese exclusion act and is intended to influence the signatories to the treaty now in preparation and which is based upon the enactment of the last congress. The civilized world is familiar with the exclusion act and its object—to prevent the United States from becoming the dumping ground of the surplus and refuse population of a nation of over 400,000,000 people, one-fourth the population of the world.

When the boycott was first proposed several months ago it was thought that the United States would at once "sit up and take notice." The Chinese had conceived the idea that the most effective way to rouse the Yankee was to touch his pocketbook. The boycott resolution was months in preparation, and when completed a meeting of the guilds, or chambers of commerce, was called in the principal cities, the resolution adopted and signed by the members and each obligated himself to forfeit the amount above named if he violated any of its provisions.

The main provisions of the resolution are as follows:

First.—Chinese will not buy or use any article of American production, machinery included.

Second.—Chinese merchants, their agents and clerks will not ship goods in vessels owned by Americans.

Third.—Chinese will not send their children to schools established and conducted by Americans.

Fourth.—Chinese will not join any American firm as salesman, agent or interpreter.

Fifth.—Chinese employed in performing menial services for Americans are requested to resign such positions.

The Chinese population of the Pacific coast has been variously estimated, but probably 100,000 would be a fair approximation. Of this number possibly one-third are centered in San Francisco. There is no denying the fact that among these Chinamen there are some as shrewd and as clever as the average American. Some have been educated in English at Harvard, Yale and other American universities. In San Francisco there are some engaged in banking, exporting and importing and wholesale merchandising.

India, China and Japan are the largest cotton consumers in the world, and the world's supply of cotton is produced by the United States, India and Egypt. Of this world supply the United States produces about 75 per cent and exports about 62 per cent of this either in the raw or manufactured state. The bulk of it that goes to the orient is taken by China and Japan.

A man who had charge of some public work in China on which thousands of coolies were employed said recently they all wore shirts made of flour sacks, and on their backs he could read the history of the flour trade all the way from Minnesota to California.

The Chinese boycott of American vessels will not be felt to any extent, for our entire export trade of $20,000,000 carried to that empire only about 1 per cent went over in American bottoms. Of the entire foreign trade of China, amounting to about $25,000,000, fully 50 per cent was carried in British bottoms. Japan and Germany rank next. Germany sends annually to China over $100,000,000 worth of goods. The latter's export trade with China amounts to about $25,000,000 annually.

The present boycott will have little or no appreciable effect in the United States save to curtail the business of a few exporting houses. The trade with China is only a drop in the immense current of America's foreign trade, but it is to the future that business men on the Pacific coast are looking. China, with its 400,000,000 people and 4,000,000 square miles of territory, does not buy from us as many goods as Japan with one-third the population, and forty years ago Japan was where China is today in relation to the world's progress. China has coal fields that cover 2,000 square miles more than those of the United States, and yet it has only about 300 miles of railroads. It has undeveloped mines of iron, copper and other ores. It has limitless water power and rivers that are navigable for a thousand miles. There seems practically no limit to the fertility of its soil. Business men are looking forward to the time when China awakes. They want to know who will awaken her and teach her to need things that advanced nations make and sell. At present it appears that Japan will be the dominant power commercially in China for some years.

TO MARK TWAIN.

[A SONNET.]

THE jester of an unheroic age,
He sought no knight against imagined wrong
Nor roamed to splendid laughter
Deep and long.

Like the keen scourger of the Attic stage,
But chronicled upon his wealthy page
The ironies and follies of a throng
Of vital beings, with a hand as strong
As though to him had fallen the heritage
Of the great servants of the comic muse.

Not his the gloomy lament of old time,
Swift's cruel anger, Heine's subtle smiles,
Yet his he earned an equal right by use
Of the broad humor of a ruler's clime
To meet his peers on Lucian's happy isles.

FIALA PARTY RESCUE.

Arctic Explorer's Mother Dreams of His Safety.

The mother of Anthony Fiala, who lives in Brooklyn, and his sister, Mrs. John Casper Koch, also of Brooklyn, knew through visions two days in advance of cablegrams that the young Arctic explorer who was recently rescued by the Ziegler expedition was safe.

It was the other night that Mrs. Fiala saw her son standing at her side in a dream and heard him say:

"You need worry no longer, for I am coming back."

It was that same night that the sister received a similar message by a weird spiritual telepathy from another member of the expedition telling her that her brother was safe.

The Fiala expedition had been cut off from all communication with the rest of the world after July, 1903. The expedition returns with a record of having reached 82 degrees 13 minutes north, which is several degrees less than that of Captain Cagni of the Duke of Abruzzi's party, who reached 86 degrees 33 minutes north.

The vision which appeared to Mrs. Fiala and to Mrs. John Casper Koch, the sister of the polar explorer, were made known to a number of their friends and relatives, and the receipt of the intelligence of the safe arrival of the expedition in Norway was regarded as a wonderful confirmation of the prophecies of the dreams.

"I dreamed that Anthony would come back," said Mrs. Fiala, "and it has come true."

"After I received word Tuesday night (Aug. 9) that all hope of the expedition had been given up the tears I had unshed for two years were increased tenfold. It was late when I retired, and I could not sleep. After awhile, however, I dozed off, and then suddenly I seemed to awake. Anthony stood before me. He looked well—in fact, in better health than when he sailed away. He was smiling, and as I recognized him he bent over me and kissed me."

"You need worry no longer," he said, "for I am coming back. It has been a hard fight, but we are safe." Then, as I stretched out my arms to him, he faded away.

"Strangely enough, my daughter dreamed that very night that another member of the expedition had appeared to her and had informed her that the party was safe and would soon return."

LIQUID PEACEMAKER.

"Conference Cocktail" Delights Attache of Russian Mission.

Most of the members of the Russian peace commission are very fond of cooling drinks dispensed at their hotel in Portsmouth, N. H., other than tea, says a special dispatch to the New York Herald. They are eager to learn all that is to be known about American mixed drinks, and the other afternoon one of the attaches discovered a cocktail which he believes is as new to the world as to himself.

Strutting into the cafe, he said to the drink dispenser: "My dear sir, I wish you would make me a cocktail that is new. I have drunk several of your making, and they are very fine. They tell me you are the inventor of drinks, very delicious ones, and suppose now that you invent one for me."

"I shall be delighted to obey," answered the bartender, with a very profound bow. Quickly he had the long tin cups and the little spoon and strainer at work, and the Russian watched him with marked interest. When the beverage was finished the man behind the walnut poured it out. As the big secretary raised it to his lips the compounder of the drink said:

"That, sir, is a conference cocktail—the first one ever made. I trust you will enjoy it."

The Russian drank it with great relish.

"Ah," said he, smacking his lips, "it is indeed a delicious drink. A few of those would make peace with the whole world."

Automobile in Water Streets.

During the last few weeks an enormous automobile water car has been tested in the Champs Elysees quarter at Paris, says a special cable dispatch to the New York Herald. It distributes its shower at a rate of about six miles an hour and covers the Avenue des Champs Elysees in about two hours and the circle around the Arc de Triomphe in about three hours. This test is considered successful, and a French company is now running another water car of similar proportions, which will be at work next November.

One machine will do the work of four ordinary cars in less than half the time.

Protesting Member Sanford Is Reinstated—New Schedule For Supreme Council.

Columbus, Aug. 17.—At a meeting of the Grand Lodge, Royal Arcanum, held here, M. J. Sanford, a protesting member against the increased insurance rates, who was suspended from the order by Grand Regent Franklin Rubrecht for violation of the rules in leading the crusade, was reinstated. This is taken as meaning that the grand lodge is in the hands of the protesting members and they have more hopes of carrying their point with the supreme body. Rubrecht states that he will appeal the action of the meeting to the supreme council at its meeting next week at Put-in-Bay.

A resolution was adopted to instruct the supreme representatives from this state to vote to repeal the increased schedule of rates. A new schedule, which conforms with the ideals of those who are making the protest, will be made to be presented at the supreme council meeting.

BIG SKELETON

Found Near Kirkersville by David Hall's Father While Digging Canal Years Ago.

A representative of the Advocate was told an interesting fact on Wednesday morning by Mr. David Hall, a highly respected citizen of this county, who lives in Newton township. Mr. Hall said that his father, the late Lofland Hall, a former well known resident of this county, worked about three years, during his early manhood, at digging the Ohio canal, which was then being constructed. Mr. Hall says that his father told him that while digging the canal, nearly opposite Kirkersville, they dug up an ancient skeleton in a good state of preservation that belonged to a giant of a pre-historic race. The skeleton was eight feet long, and was found several feet below the surface, all the parts being connected as if it had been buried there. Near the same locality, also, he said, white oak logs were found buried, which were three feet in diameter, and in a good state of preservation.

BIG CROWD GOES TO BLACK HAND

TWENTIETH ANNUAL REUNION OF SOLDIERS HELD THERE

A Number of Prominent Men Among the Speakers—Gathering a Big Success as Usual.

The twentieth annual soldiers reunion of Licking and surrounding counties was held at Black Hand Thursday, and like all former reunions at that place, was a big success in every particular. A large crowd, estimated at between five and six thousand people was on the ground. The day was spent in social reunions by friends and neighbors and in reunions by veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American wars, many of whom, perhaps, met only this once in all the years to talk over the battles fought and the victories won. A fine program was carried out and the orators include some of the most able talent in the state, among them being Governor Herrick, Col. W. L. Curry, Hon. Louis B. Houck Judge E. M. P. Brister, W. A. Irvine, J. D. Jones, and Attorneys G. C. Daugherty, J. R. Fitzgibbon, and C. L. H. Long of this city, also Capt John C. Evans of Frazeyburg.

Barnett stated that he was trying to avoid the child, and that when the bicycle struck the child he had jumped off. The case will be heard today.

M'MILLEN KILLED NEAR HANOVER

PANHANDLE BRAKEMAN THROWN FROM FREIGHT TRAIN BETWEEN CARS.

Accident Wednesday Afternoon Caused Train to Be Detoured—Dead Man's Home at Dennison.

While working heroically with the train to save the engine from total destruction, John A. McMillen of Dennison, front brakeman on through freight B. G. on the Pennsylvania lines, was thrown from his position on the top of a refrigerator car during a mix-up Wednesday afternoon. Caught between the cars, his body was so badly crushed and lacerated that he died in Dr. W. J. Melick's office in Frazeyburg about an hour later, where he had been promptly removed to secure medical attention.

Freight B. G. was partially derailed near Hanover about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The train was east-bound, being chiefly composed of refrigerator cars containing meats for the Eastern market. An axle on one of the cars broke, derailing it, 11 other cars following its course. The cars were piled up and badly smashed. It required the services of the wrecking crew until 9 o'clock p. m. to clear the tracks. Many of the cars were so badly shattered they were unsafe to continue the journey. These were unloaded and extra cars sent for.

Owing to the accident traffic was blocked at this point during the early evening, necessitating all east-bound trains to be detoured to Zanesville over the B. & O. and then continuing their journey to Trilway over the C. & M. V. Lines.

The only victim of the wreck had been in the employ of the company for many years as freight brakeman. He had been assigned the front position of the train, and when he saw the car with the broken axle swag, applied the brakes and signaled the pilot men of an accident. While manipulating the brakes he was thrown between the cars. The entire crew immediately after the accident set about to release the unfortunate man. This was accomplished with difficulty. The engine carried him to Frazeyburg, where Dr. Melick, who had been notified of the coming, was in readiness to receive him. Prompt action on the part of the physician failed to prolong his life.

The unfortunate man was about 31 years of age, unmarried, and is survived by a brother and sister at the home town, Dennison. The remains were prepared for burial and will be sent to either the brother's or sister's home before the funeral services will be arranged.

The young man's feet were pinioned between two brake beams and it was four hours before he could be released. His left leg below the knee was amputated and his right leg crushed.

Joseph Phil, a flagman, who was sitting in the caboose observation seat, was pitched headlong through the window, sustaining painful bruises. Ten cars were wrecked and traffic was delayed for six hours.

PRESIDENCY OF CAR SHOP COMBINE

MARTIN BRILL ACCEPTS IT ON CONDITION THAT PLAN WILL BE MODIFIED.

This Is the Big Combination Which Will Absorb the Jewett Car Shops of Newark.

New York, Aug. 17.—In explanation for the delay in closing the subscription to the proposed street car consolidation, which will include the Jewett Car Company of Newark, O., it was said that a modification of the financial plans will have to be made in order to provide a large amount of cash working capital.

Martin Brill of Brill Bros. & Co., who has consented to become the president of the combination, requested the bankers and brokers to modify the financial plan, so as to provide the additional cash for the working capital. This request was made contingent upon his accepting the presidency of the company.

The principals recognized the justice of the request, and efforts are being made to obtain the consent of the vendors and all the large syndicate participants. This will take several weeks to accomplish.

Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co. have announced that had the request not been made for a modification of the financial plan the deal would have been closed Thursday, the limit set for the subscriptions.

GUESTS FRIGHTENED

By Appearance of Head of Household Who Had Been Drinking—Rough House Soon Followed.

The guests assembled at a house on Valandigham street Wednesday night, were treated to a novel form of entertainment when the man of the house came home rather the worse for liquor imbibed and proceeded to put on a turn that was not scheduled on the official program. The result was that girls became hysterical, boys became frightened and the grand finale came when the police broke up the affair and marched the chief trouble maker to the lockup while the young folks were left to go peacefully to their homes.

It seems that the head of the house was not well pleased with things on his return and when he expressed his displeasure, his brother-in-law protested against his display of anger and an argument ensued. The man unwisely swung a glass water pitcher in the direction of his relative's head and several stitches were required to close the wound which resulted. Then the police received their cue, and the curtain fell on the last act as the man was being led away.

The man's wife appeared at the office of Chief Sheridan Thursday morning and is anxious to have the matter settled without coming to trial. It is understood that there will be no charges brought against the man.

Daughter of Conductor and Mrs. U. G. Ferguson Died Suddenly at Salt Lake City, Saturday Night.

B. and O. Conductor Cam Smith received a telegram Thursday, from Rawlins, Wyoming, announcing the death of Miss Alice Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Ferguson, formerly of this city. The body will arrive in Newark on B. and O. No. 8 Friday evening, the interment being made in Cedar Hill cemetery, Saturday afternoon.

The particulars of Mrs. Ferguson's death are not known at present, as her father who is a conductor running a train out of Tonapah, was not present at the time of his daughter's death, which occurred at 11:30 last Saturday night at Salt Lake City from heart disease. The young woman's death was very sudden.

Miss Ferguson was a very charming young woman who had a wide circle of friends in Newark. The news of her death will be sadly received by all.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 17.—M. Witte's mission to America, in addition to undertaking peace negotiations, is for the purpose of correcting certain mistaken impressions in America regarding the attitude of the Russian government on the Jewish question. M. Witte, as president of the council of ministers, is familiar with the Russian government's intentions regarding the Jews, and also has a close personal knowledge of the Jewish question in all its details.
